IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The law requires that you shall be furnished on blank forms obtained at the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigrant inspector at the time of arrival at the first port of entry in the United States, a correct list or manifest of all such aliens, and that you shall truly answer all questions stated at the top of the list concerning each alien therein named. You will be required to swear to the correctness of the list before the immigrant inspector at the port of entry. Any person who knowingly makes a false statement or false report in relation to the information required by the immigration laws to be furnished by masters of vessels, or who refuses to furnish such information after demand made by authority of the United States, or who refuses to permit any immigrant inspector to go on board any vessel of the United States for the purpose of performing any duty or exercising any power conferred upon him by the immigration laws, or who refuses to detain any vessel when directed to do so by an immigrant inspector, or who refuses to prevent any person from going on board any vessel when directed to do so by an immigrant inspector, or who refuses to assist such inspector in the performance of any duty which it may be his duty as master to perform in connection with the boarding or inspection of his vessel, or who refuses to permit any such inspector to take such measures as may be necessary to secure a thorough examination of the vessel and of the aliens on board, or who refuses to detain any alien when ordered by the inspector in charge, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall upon conviction thereof be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, at the discretion of the court.

(b) Every master, agent, owner, charterer, or consignee of any vessel bringing aliens to the United States who refuses or neglects to perform any duty required of him by the immigration laws or regulations made in pursuance thereof, or who refuses or neglects to pay the head tax and exhibit the certificate therefor, or who refuses or neglects to detain any alien on board for examination by the immigrant inspectors at the time of the vessel's arrival at the port of first arrival, or who refuses or neglects to prevent any alien on board from landing at such port, or who lands or permits to land any alien at any port or place in the United States, except as provided by the immigration laws and regulations made in pursuance thereof, or who refuses or neglects to detain any alien on board who has been certified to him for special inquiry by the immigrant inspectors, or who refuses or neglects to deliver lists or manifests required by law, or who refuses or neglects to deliver to the immigrant inspectors any such list or manifest in his possession, or who refuses or neglects to indorse certificates in such lists or manifests, or who refuses or neglects to report, or who makes any false report, or who refuses or neglects to make any other report required by the immigration laws or regulations made in pursuance thereof, or who refuses or neglects to perform any other duty required of him by the immigration laws or regulations made in pursuance thereof, or who obstructs or hinders or delays or who aids in obstructing or hindering or delaying any such inspection or the performance of any such duty, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall pay a fine of not more than $1,000 or be imprisoned for not more than one year, or both such fine and imprisonment, at the discretion of the court.

(c) If the Attorney General shall be satisfied that any person has been unlawfully brought into the United States on board any vessel, and that the master, agent, owner, charterer, or consignee of such vessel has been guilty of any wilful act or omission by reason whereof such person was permitted to land in the United States, or has refused or neglected to detain such person on board or to deliver such person to the immigrant inspectors for examination, or to report, bring, or carry such person to the proper immigrant inspector, or has refused or neglected to perform any other duty required of him by the immigration laws or regulations made in pursuance thereof, or has obstructed or hindered or delayed the same, such master, agent, owner, charterer, or consignee shall pay to the collector of customs for the district in which the port is situated, or if there be no collector at such port, then to the collector nearest to such port, the sum of $1,000 for each such person, and no clearance shall be granted to any such vessel while she remains within the jurisdiction of the United States, nor shall such vessel be granted clearance papers after the payment of the head tax and the exhibition of the certificate therefor, if any person liable to be excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws is on board, unless the master shall have delivered to the immigrant inspectors a list or manifest of all such persons, or shall have reported the fact that such persons are on board and refused to deliver them to the immigrant inspectors for examination. Clearance may be granted to vessels prevented from sailing within twenty-four hours after the receipt of the application therefor by reason of the refusal of the immigrant inspectors to grant the necessary permits, upon the production of the certificate of the customs officer that the vessel is ready to receive clearance, and the filing of the application for clearance.

(d) Every alien arriving at a port within the United States from any foreign port, or at any port in the United States from any port in the insular possessions of the United States, and every person, except a citizen of the United States, who departs from the United States, or from any port in the insular possessions of the United States, shall be required to pay a head tax of $8, which shall be paid to the collector of customs of the district in which the port is situated, and if there be no collector at such port, then to the collector nearest to such port. Such head tax shall be paid to the collector of customs before the departure of any person who departs from the United States, or from any port in the insular possessions of the United States, and before the landing in the United States, or in any such insular possession, of any alien who arrives in the United States, or in any such insular possession, from any foreign port, or from any port in the insular possessions of the United States

The list described below shall be inserted on blank forms which will be sent to the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration officer at the port. When an alleged alien is brought before the immigration officer, he shall, in addition to inquiry touching the matters of fact set forth in the list, make such other inquiry touching the right of such alleged alien to enter the United States as he may deem necessary. The list is expressly to be used only as a guide to the immigration officer, and the failure to ask any question therein contained shall not be ground for objection to the action of the immigration officer in any case.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917

SEC. 38. That every alien arriving at the United States from the contiguous country to Canada or Mexico by water at a port of entry shall be examined by an immigrant inspector at the time of arrival, but such examination may be made while the vessel is en route to the dock or landing place designated for the inspection of passengers. Every such alien may be detained on board or at the port of arrival for such examination and for the physical and mental examination by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service provided for in this Act, and for such further investigation as may be necessary in the event the alien claims a right to remain or admission in the United States which appears doubtful to the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival. Every such alien who may be certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as afflicted with any such physical or mental disease or defect as is required to be certified by him under the provisions of this Act shall be detained on board or at the port of arrival for treatment and observation pending the certification of the case by the Board of Special Inquiry, unless sooner removed from the United States in accordance with law. Every such alien who may be certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as afflicted with any such disease or defect which would be ground for his exclusion by the Board of Special Inquiry shall be detained on board or at the port of arrival for observation and treatment pending the certification of the case by the Board of Special Inquiry

SEC. 26. That when it shall be made to appear to the United States Immigration Officer at any port of initial arrival that any alien seeking admission to the United States may not be admissible under the provisions of this Act, but may be admissible after the operation of the medical treatment provided for in this Act, or after the further observation provided for in this Act, or both, such alien may be certified for special inquiry under such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor. Upon the certification of any alien for special inquiry under the provisions of this Act, the decision of the Board of Special Inquiry shall be final unless reversed on appeal to the Secretary of Labor, but such appeal must be taken within such time as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor. Pending the final decision of any such case so certified, the alien shall be detained in such manner as the Secretary of Labor may direct. Such appeals shall be decided solely upon the evidence adduced before the Board of Special Inquiry and the record made by that Board. Nothing in this section shall be construed to require the Secretary of Labor, Assistant Secretary of Labor, Commissioner of Immigration, or Board of Special Inquiry to hear oral argument from any alien or his attorney.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 10. No alien seaman shall be employed upon any vessel to which this section applies unless there is in force a certificate issued by the Secretary of Labor certifying that the employment of such alien will not adversely affect the wages and working conditions of the crews of similarly employed vessels of United States registry. Such certificate shall be issued only upon application by the master of the vessel on which the alien seaman is to be employed, and only if the Secretary of Labor finds that the employment of such alien will not adversely affect the wages and working conditions of the crews of similarly employed vessels of United States registry. Such certificate may be revoked by the Secretary of Labor at any time with respect to any vessel if he finds that the employment of aliens thereon adversely affects the wages or working conditions of the crews of similarly employed vessels of United States registry. Any alien employed on a vessel without such certificate in force with respect to such vessel, or after such certificate has been revoked with respect to such vessel, shall be deported in accordance with the provisions of section 19 of the Immigration Act of 1917, as amended (U.S.C., 1934 edition, title 8, sec. 155). Clearance shall not be granted to any vessel subject to the provisions of this section while any alien employed thereon is being unlawfully landed in the United States.

SEC. 35. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving from any foreign port at any port in the United States who knowingly employs or permits any alien to land in the United States from such vessel at any port in the United States, except in pursuance of a permit issued by the Secretary of Labor, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien so landed, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, except that masters of vessels may, without such permit, detail crew members employed on such vessels to perform temporary shore duty not connected with the actual loading or unloading of cargo, while such vessels are in port, for periods not exceeding those prescribed by the Secretary of Labor in regulations governing such temporary shore duty. Any such crew member who fails to report on board his vessel when she departs from port shall be deported as an alien crew member employed on a vessel arriving at a port of the United States, unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his failure to report was not voluntary or was due to sickness or other cause for which he was not responsible.

(b) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel who knowingly employs any alien in violation of the provisions of this section, or who fails to deport any alien who is required to be deported under the provisions of this section, shall be punished by a fine of $1,000 for each alien employed or failed to be deported, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Such fine shall be a lien upon the vessel, which may be libeled therefor in the district court of the United States for the district in which the vessel may arrive or depart, and clearance may be withheld or granted, and such vessel may be libeled, notwithstanding the provisions of section 4370 of the Revised Statutes (U.S.C., 1934 edition, title 46, sec. 314), or any other law requiring manifests or other papers to be delivered before libel proceedings may be instituted against vessels.

(c) The Secretary of Labor shall have power to enter upon any vessel within the jurisdiction of the United States, and to examine the crew thereof, in order to determine whether any alien has been employed in violation of this section, and shall have power to issue warrants for the arrest of any alien found to be unlawfully employed or unlawfully landed in the United States, and for the arrest of any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer who has violated the provisions of this section, and for the seizure of any vessel upon which any such violation occurs. Any vessel shall be detained upon the demand of any immigrant inspector until the master of such vessel shall have complied with the requirements of this section and with any regulations made thereunder, and until any fine imposed upon such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer shall have been paid or sufficient security therefor given. Any vessel upon which any alien shall be employed in violation of this section shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien employed, which shall be a lien upon the vessel, which may be libeled therefor in the district court of the United States for the district in which the vessel may arrive or depart, and clearance may be withheld or granted, and such vessel may be libeled, notwithstanding the provisions of section 4370 of the Revised Statutes (U.S.C., 1934 edition, title 46, sec. 314), or any other law requiring manifests or other papers to be delivered before libel proceedings may be instituted against vessels.

(d) Fines and penalties provided for in this section may be remitted or mitigated by the Secretary of Labor, upon such terms and conditions as he shall deem just, or compromised by the Attorney General upon recommendation of the Secretary of Labor.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived may cause undue hardship to such seaman by reason of the time required for the deportation of such seaman, or for any other reason, he may grant a temporary permit to such alien seaman to enter the United States solely for the purpose of and for the period necessary to obtain treatment for such seaman, or pending the departure of such seaman on account of such hardship, upon the deposit of such security or the filing of such bond or undertaking as may be required by the Secretary of Labor. Such bond or undertaking may be prosecuted or collected by the United States in the event of the failure of such seaman to depart on the vessel on which he arrived or on such other vessel as may be designated by the Secretary of Labor.

Granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be rendered on blank forms furnished by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immediate inspector at the port of arrival, not later than 24 hours before the vessel is due to arrive. The list or manifest of aliens on board vessels bound for ports in the United States shall not be required on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the proper immigration officer at the port of arrival before the vessel is allowed to proceed to any dock or pier in connection therewith. Failure to deliver such list or manifest as required by this section will subject the master to a penalty of $10 for each alien not listed therein, and in addition thereto, $10 for each alien for whom a proper list or manifest is not delivered. Any such penalty may be remitted or mitigated by the Secretary of Labor, whose decision shall be final. The term "master" as used herein shall be construed to include the person in charge of any vessel other than a vessel of the United States.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That when aliens in the United States from any foreign port or place or from any insular possession of the United States, arrive by water at any port in the United States, it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel in which they arrive, or the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the railroad or railway on which they arrive from any contiguous foreign territory, to deliver to the immigrant inspectors at the port of entry lists or manifests of such aliens, in duplicate, containing such information as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, and such aliens shall not be allowed to land from such vessel or railroad car until such lists or manifests have been inspected by the immigrant inspector at the port of entry, or by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the railroad or railway, or by a person duly authorized by any of them, and certified to the immigrant inspector at the port of entry: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may by regulations provide for the examination of such aliens prior to the departure of the vessel from the foreign port, or for the certification of such lists or manifests at the United States consular office at the foreign port of departure, and may refuse to permit the entry of any such aliens who arrive at ports not designated by him as ports of entry for aliens. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any railroad or railway who shall refuse or fail to deliver such lists or manifests, or any master who shall refuse or fail to detain any alien on board his vessel when required so to do by the Secretary of Labor or any immigrant inspector, or who shall refuse or fail to carry back any alien who may be excluded from the United States by the Secretary of Labor, or by any immigrant inspector, shall be severally liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien concerning whom any such violation occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers while any such penalty remains unpaid, or while the master, agent, consignee, or owner thereof is liable for any such penalty, but clearance may be granted upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to pay such penalty after the same shall have been finally determined by the Secretary of Labor, whose decision shall be final: Provided further, That no vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending an appeal from the decision imposing such penalty to the Secretary of Labor, but in such case the collector of customs shall take a bond, with sufficient surety, in such sum and conditioned for the payment of such penalty as may be finally determined by the Secretary of Labor, and the bond shall be void and shall be returned to the obligors upon payment being made as herein provided or upon such decision being rendered: Provided further, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, remit fines and penalties provided for in this section or mitigate the same upon such terms and conditions as he may deem just and proper: And provided further, That clearance may be granted any vessel prior to the payment of such penalty or the giving of such bond in any case where an appeal has been taken from the decision imposing such penalty to the Secretary of Labor, whose decision on such appeal shall be final.

SEC. 20. (a) That the owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States any alien who has been excluded from admission and is entitled to appeal to the Secretary of Labor from the decision of the board of special inquiry excluding such alien may, within such time as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, deposit with the collector of customs of the district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $250 to cover the cost of the return of such alien in case the appeal is decided adversely to the alien, and such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of such vessel shall not be required to return such alien to a foreign port or place or pay the head tax provided for in section 2 of this Act in case the decision of the Secretary of Labor is rendered within two months after the date of the deposit. Pending the decision of the Secretary of Labor, such alien shall be detained in such manner as the Secretary of Labor may direct, but the cost of such detention shall be borne by the appellant and not by the United States. If the decision of the Secretary of Labor is not rendered within two months after the date of the deposit, the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel may, at his discretion, cancel the appeal and demand the return of the deposit, or he may permit the deposit to remain with the collector of customs to abide the decision of the Secretary of Labor on appeal. If the decision of the Secretary of Labor is rendered after the vessel has sailed, the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel may be notified to return the alien to the port from which he came to the United States at the cost of the vessel, and if the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel fails to return the alien, the $250 deposited shall be applied to the cost of the return of the alien, and any balance of the cost shall be collected from the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel. If the cost of the return of the alien is less than $250, the balance shall be returned to the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel making the deposit. Nothing in this section shall be construed to require the return of any alien to a foreign port or place at the cost of the vessel when the Secretary of Labor has determined that such alien has a right to enter the United States, or when such alien has been admitted to the United States by any law, treaty, or section of this Act which exempts him from deportation.

(b) That the Secretary of Labor shall have the power and duty to control and guard the admission and exclusion of aliens, and shall establish such regulations, prescribe such forms of bond, make such inspection of aliens, and perform such other acts as he deems necessary for the purpose of enforcing the provisions of this Act relating to the admission and exclusion of aliens, and may refuse admission to any alien who fails to comply with any such regulation or provision. He may order any such alien arriving at a port of the United States to be returned to the country whence he came or to the country of which he is a subject, citizen, or resident, or to any country which may be willing to receive him, at the option of the alien, and the cost of the return of any alien who is excluded and ordered returned by the Secretary of Labor, or by any board of special inquiry, shall be borne by the owner of the vessel on which such alien arrived in the United States, and may be recovered from such owner or vessel in any action brought for that purpose. The decision of the Secretary of Labor shall be final as to the facts regarding the admissibility of any alien, unless appeal is taken as herein provided.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall deem that deportation of any alien arrested or the return of any alien who has been granted a visa would be prejudicial to the interests of the United States, he may, after a hearing, cancel such visa or deportation, and such alien shall not be allowed to land or be deported, as the case may be, but such cancellation of visa or deportation shall not be made because of any change in the political relations between the United States and the country of which such alien is a subject, citizen, or resident, subsequent to the issuance of such visa or the commencement of such proceedings, or because of any views which such alien may have expressed or any association with others holding such views, unless such association or such expression of views would be prejudicial to the interests of the United States.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 6. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the fees required by section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been collected and not then unless notice of detention by the Commissioner of Immigration has been withheld by said section or by other provisions of said Act pending appeal, the deposit described in rule 22 has been made.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 10. All alien seamen excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place, shall be detained on board or at such port of arrival until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival shall have granted a landing permit to such alien seaman, and such alien seaman shall be deported in pursuance of the provisions of the immigration laws to the country from which he came to the United States or to the country of which he is a subject, citizen, or resident, as the Secretary of Labor may direct, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of the immigration laws. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States from any vessel at any port or place without a permit, and who shall not depart on the vessel on which he arrived or some other vessel within the period of time allowed by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, shall be deported in pursuance of the provisions of the immigration laws to the country from which he came to the United States or to the country of which he is a subject, citizen, or resident, as the Secretary of Labor may direct, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of the immigration laws. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States from any vessel at any port or place without a permit, and who shall not depart on the vessel on which he arrived or some other vessel within the period of time allowed by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, shall be deported in pursuance of the provisions of the immigration laws to the country from which he came to the United States or to the country of which he is a subject, citizen, or resident, as the Secretary of Labor may direct, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of the immigration laws.

(a) That no alien seaman shall be granted a visa by any consular officer unless such alien seaman is in possession of a valid passport, and no alien seaman shall be granted admission into the United States unless he establishes to the satisfaction of the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival that he intends to depart from the United States on the vessel on which he arrived or some other vessel within the period of time allowed by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, and unless he is in possession of a valid passport. The immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival may, in his discretion, require a bond with sufficient surety to insure the payment of the head tax provided for in section 2 of this Act in the event such alien seaman fails to depart from the United States within the period of time allowed by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, and may, in his discretion, require a deposit of money sufficient in amount to cover the head tax provided for in section 2 of this Act to be deposited with the collector of customs at the port of arrival, to be refunded upon the departure of the alien seaman within the period of time allowed by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival. Any bond given under the provisions of this section may be prosecuted for the recovery of the head tax provided for in section 2 of this Act in the event of the failure of the alien seaman to depart within the period of time allowed by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, unless such failure is excused or such bond is remitted by the Secretary of Labor.

(b) That no alien seaman shall be granted a visa by any consular officer, and no such alien seaman shall be admitted into the United States, if such alien seaman is afflicted with any of the mental or physical defects or diseases specified in section 2 of this Act, or if such alien seaman is an anarchist, or a person who believes in or advocates the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States, or of all forms of law, or the assassination of public officials, or who advocates or teaches the unlawful destruction of property, or is a member of or affiliated with any organization entertaining a belief in, teaching, or advocating such overthrow by force or violence, or such unlawful destruction of property, or who is a polygamist, or a believer in the practice of polygamy, or who is coming to the United States to perform any labor or service of any kind, or who has been convicted of a felony or other crime or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, or who is an idiot, imbecile, feebleminded person, epileptic, insane person, or who has had one or more attacks of insanity at any time previously, or who is a professional beggar, or who is a vagrant, or who is afflicted with tuberculosis in any form or with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, or who is not in possession of a valid passport, or who is not in possession of a valid visa, if a visa is required by the regulations of the Secretary of Labor, or who is not admissible under any of the provisions of section 3 of this Act, or who is not in possession of a valid unexpired certificate of identification issued by the Secretary of Labor, or who is not in possession of a valid unexpired certificate of registration issued by the Secretary of Labor, if such certificate of registration is required by the regulations of the Secretary of Labor.

(c) That no alien seaman shall be granted a visa by any consular officer, and no such alien seaman shall be admitted into the United States, if such alien seaman has been found to be a member of any of the classes enumerated in subdivision (b) of this section, and the refusal of a visa to such alien seaman by the consular officer, or the refusal of admission to such alien seaman by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, shall be conclusive, unless such alien seaman shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he was not a member of any of the classes enumerated in subdivision (b) of this section at the time of the refusal of his visa by the consular officer, or of the refusal of admission by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, and that he is not a member of any of the classes enumerated in subdivision (b) of this section.

(d) That the master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel bringing to the United States any alien seaman who has been granted a visa by any consular officer shall report to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival the name of such alien seaman, and in the case of the failure of such alien seaman to depart from the United States on the vessel on which he arrived or some other vessel within the period of time allowed by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, such master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel shall be required to return such alien seaman to the port from which he came to the United States at the cost of the vessel, and if the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel fails to return the alien seaman, he shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien seaman concerning whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers while any such penalty remains unpaid, or while the master, agent, consignee, or owner thereof is liable for any such penalty, but clearance may be granted upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to pay such penalty after the same shall have been finally determined by the Secretary of Labor, whose decision shall be final: Provided further, That clearance may be granted any vessel prior to the payment of such penalty or the giving of such bond in any case where an appeal has been taken from the decision imposing such penalty to the Secretary of Labor, whose decision on such appeal shall be final.

(e) That the Secretary of Labor shall have the power to enter into contracts with transportation lines for the return of aliens. No fee or compensation shall be paid to any master of a vessel or other person for the return of any alien, except in pursuance of such a contract. The net head tax collected from any alien seaman whose return is paid for by the master of a vessel shall be refunded to such master.

(f) That no alien seaman shall be granted admission into the United States who is afflicted with any contagious disease that may be communicated to the crew or passengers during the course of the voyage or human beings in the United States, unless such alien seaman shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he was not afflicted with such disease at the time of the departure of the vessel from the foreign port, and that he could not have ascertained the presence of such disease by the exercise of reasonable diligence prior to the departure of the vessel from the foreign port, or that he came in good faith to the United States solely to secure adequate medical treatment for such disease.

(g) That no alien seaman shall be granted admission into the United States who is afflicted with tuberculosis in any form or with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, unless such alien seaman shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he was not afflicted with such disease at the time of the departure of the vessel from the foreign port, and that he could not have ascertained the presence of such disease by the exercise of reasonable diligence prior to the departure of the vessel from the foreign port, or that he came in good faith to the United States solely to secure adequate medical treatment for such disease.

(h) That the Secretary of Labor shall have the power to enter into contracts with any State, Territory, or possession of the United States, or with any municipality or with any transportation company which shall have been granted the right to land passengers in the United States, to provide for the temporary detention and maintenance, pending examination, of alien seamen, and the Secretary of Labor may require any vessel which has been granted clearance papers to delay departure pending the examination of any alien seaman on board thereof. Nothing in this section shall be construed to require the Secretary of Labor to provide for the maintenance of any alien seaman for a longer period than is provided for in the case of other aliens.

(i) That the provisions of this section relating to alien seamen shall be enforced by the officers of the United States Immigration Service and the United States Public Health Service, and by such officers of the United States as the Secretary of Labor shall designate for that purpose.

(j) That the term "seaman" as used in this section shall include every person employed on board any vessel, except masters, officers, engineers, firemen, pursers, surgeons, and persons employed in the business department of vessels engaged in the trade between the United States and foreign ports.

(k) That the provisions of this section shall not apply to any alien seaman who shall have been lawfully admitted into the United States and who shall be employed on board a vessel plying between the United States and foreign ports or between the United States and the Panama Canal Zone or between the United States and any of its insular possessions.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States except temporarily and for medical treatment, or because of shipwreck or other casualty or for such reasons as may be approved by the Secretary of Labor and then only under such conditions as he may prescribe, to secure the safety of such alien and the welfare of the United States. Upon the departure of such alien from the United States, the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel on which such alien departs shall report the departure of such alien to the immigration officer in charge at the port of departure, and failure to do so shall be prima facie evidence of violation of the provisions of this section. Any such master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel bringing to the United States any alien seaman who shall have been ordered excluded from admission to or to depart from the United States pursuant to law shall pay a penalty of $1,000 for each alien seaman so ordered excluded, which penalty may be remitted or mitigated by the Secretary of Labor upon such terms and conditions as he may deem proper: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the question of the remission or mitigation of such penalty in the case of any alien seaman who is a member of the crew of the vessel bringing him to the United States and who is not a citizen or subject of the country to which such vessel is destined, if such alien seaman shall be specifically certified by the immigration officer at the port of arrival to the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel and such master, agent, consignee, or owner shall furnish a bond or undertaking approved by the Secretary of Labor in such sum not exceeding $1,000 for each alien seaman as may be required by such immigration officer conditioned that such master, agent, consignee, or owner will guard such alien seaman while on board while such inspection or examination is being made, will report the result of such inspection to the immigration officer in charge at the port of departure, will deliver such alien seaman on board the vessel on which he arrived at the time of departure from the United States, will pay the cost of maintenance while in hospital, if hospitalization is necessary, and will deposit with the immigration officer in charge at the port of departure a sum sufficient to pay the passage of such alien seaman to the port for which he shall have been certified, and will indemnify the United States against any claim for maintenance which may be incurred by such alien seaman after departure from the United States: Provided, That clearance may be granted without the deposit of such sum in the case of any alien seaman employed on any vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival shall have been notified that such seaman has been discharged from such vessel, and in the case of any alien seaman who shall have been certified for hospital treatment, such clearance may be granted without the deposit of such sum upon the execution of such bond or undertaking as may be required by the Secretary of Labor: Provided further, That clearance may be granted without the deposit of such sum in the case of any alien seaman employed on any vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival shall have been notified that such seaman (except those specified in the proviso to section 3 of this Act) has been given a thorough physical examination by a surgeon of the United States Public Health Service, or by a surgeon designated by the Secretary of Labor for the purpose, and found not to be suffering from any disease specified as ground for exclusion in section 3 of this Act, and that such seaman has been vaccinated against smallpox within five years prior to the date of his application for clearance, or within such shorter period as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, unless such vaccination shall be shown to be unnecessary at the time of such examination: Provided further, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, waive the provisions of this section requiring the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or any part thereof, in the case of any vessel which shall be employed regularly in trade between ports of the United States and ports of countries contiguous thereto, or adjacent islands, and which shall make frequent trips to such ports during the calendar year: Provided, That clearance may be granted without the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or any part thereof, in the case of any vessel which shall be employed regularly in trade between ports of the United States and ports of countries contiguous thereto, or adjacent islands, and which shall make frequent trips to such ports during the calendar year: *Provided further

No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the master of a vessel against whom such penalty is asserted refuses to deposit such amount with the collector of customs, or such other security as may be approved by the Secretary of Labor, to cover such fine, or to abide the decision of the Secretary of Labor as to the remission thereof.

SEC. 50. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or departing from the United States, is prohibited from employing in any capacity on board such vessel any alien who has been excluded from admission into the United States under the provisions of this Act, or who has been deported, while such deportation remains unrevoked, or who came in consequence of any warning or order of deportation. Such employment shall be deemed to be a continuing offense during the entire period such alien remains in the United States. (c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship or that deportation will endanger the immigration officer or the master of such vessel, he may permit such alien seaman to land temporarily in the United States under such conditions as he may prescribe, but such vessel must depart without such seaman when required by the Secretary of Labor.

(d) Penalties shall not be enforced against any vessel until the [date redacted] by section 32 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been terminated, and shall not then apply to any vessel which shall have arrived in the United States prior to the termination of the period for which clearance shall have been refused to the master of the vessel on account of the failure to deport any alien seaman.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival (Ellis Island shall not be considered on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the immigration officer at the port).—When an alien member is a "MOTHER", a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of a vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel, assisted by the proper immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival, into contact with all alien members of the crew, to ascertain the nationality, last permanent residence, and intended final destination of each such alien member, and to enter the same in a list (in the words and figures so as clearly to show the matters required by this section to be stated), which list shall be produced with the manifest of the vessel, and shall be subject to the same inspection by the officers of the United States Immigration Service as the manifest of the vessel may be subject to; and a like list shall be produced and inspected in the case of vessels departing from the United States. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel who shall refuse to comply with the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

SEC. 19. No alien seaman excluded from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily because of illness, or on account of shipwreck, or other casualty or emergency, or for the purpose of obtaining surgical treatment not obtainable elsewhere, certified by the medical officer of the port, or for such other reasons as may be satisfactory to the Secretary of Labor, and then only under such conditions as he may prescribe. Clearance may be withheld from any vessel upon the ground that sick or injured seamen have been landed therefrom without the permission of the immigration officer at the port, or that any seaman employed thereon who is a native, citizen, or subject of any country the government of which is at war with a country recognized by the United States, or with which the United States has severed diplomatic relations, has been landed in the United States, contrary to the provisions of the immigration laws, unless such seaman shall have been lawfully admitted to the United States or shall have commenced proceedings to determine his right to remain therein. Clearance may be withheld from any vessel which has landed or embarked, contrary to the provisions of the immigration laws, any seaman who is afflicted with any loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, until the Secretary of Labor shall be satisfied that the vessel and crew may be admitted without danger to the public health. Clearance may be withheld from any vessel which has violated the provisions of the immigration laws relative to the boarding of vessels prior to their arrival at ports of the United States, until the question of the right of any person or persons to land has been determined. Clearance may be withheld from any vessel which has refused or neglected to detain any seaman specified in any notice given to the master or person in charge thereof, or to deliver him on board before the departure of the vessel from the port, or which has refused or neglected to detain any seaman who shall have been duly ordered by the proper authorities to remain within the United States as a witness in connection with the prosecution of any charge made against any master, officer, or member of the crew of such vessel, until the case in which such seaman is required as a witness shall have been finally disposed of by the proper court. Clearance may be withheld from any vessel which has refused or neglected to comply with any requirement made of it or the master, agent, consignee, or owner thereof by the Secretary of Labor under the provisions of section 20 of this act, or any regulation made in pursuance thereof, until such requirement shall have been complied with or such refusal or neglect explained to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seamen on the vessel is unlikely to occur the penalty to such seamen may be remitted before the departure of the vessel from the port, upon the deposit of such sum not exceeding $300 for each alien seaman as he may deem sufficient to cover such case, or of a bond with sufficient sureties to secure the payment thereof to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor. Clearance may be withheld from any vessel which has been ordered to remain in the United States by the Secretary of Labor, or by any court, pending the final disposition of any case arising under the immigration laws, or the question of the right of any alien seaman to land therein, or pending the payment of any fine or penalty imposed upon the master, or the giving of a bond therefor, or pending the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such case, or of a bond with sufficient sureties to secure the payment thereof, in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor, but shall not be withheld because of the refusal of any alien seaman to accept employment on board any vessel upon which he may be detailed by the master thereof, or to perform any labor which may be required of him on board such vessel, unless such refusal is based upon the belief of such seaman that the vessel is unseaworthy or unsafe, or that the master or any officer of such vessel has been guilty of cruelty or inhumanity toward him. Clearance may be withheld from any vessel which has violated the provisions of the immigration laws relative to the boarding of vessels prior to their arrival at ports of the United States, until the question of the right of any person or persons to land has been determined. Clearance may be withheld from any vessel which has refused or neglected to detain any seaman specified in any notice given to the master or person in charge thereof, or to deliver him on board before the departure of the vessel from the port, or which has refused or neglected to detain any seaman who shall have been duly ordered by the proper authorities to remain within the United States as a witness in connection with the prosecution of any charge made against any master, officer, or member of the crew of such vessel, until the case in which such seaman is required as a witness shall have been finally disposed of by the proper court. Clearance may be withheld from any vessel which has refused or neglected to comply with any requirement made of it or the master, agent, consignee, or owner thereof by the Secretary of Labor under the provisions of section 20 of this act, or any regulation made in pursuance thereof, until such requirement shall have been complied with or such refusal or neglect explained to the satisfaction

The list contained below shall be furnished on blank forms approved by the Department, and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector at the port of arrival of each vessel at least 24 hours before the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be later than the vessel. The list or manifest of alien passengers required to be delivered to the immigration officer at the port of arrival, or in case of failure to make such delivery shall be punished by a fine of $10 for each alien not listed, and in addition to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection, passengers coming from Canada, Mexico, Newfoundland, Cuba, Porto Rico, the Canal Zone, Hawaii, Alaska, the Virgin Islands, or the Philippine Islands, and in possession of proper documents, may be listed as "non-immigrant aliens" on a manifest separate from that of other aliens, and need not be inspected by the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival unless the immigration officer in charge at the port has reason to believe that any such passenger is not entitled to admission under the immigration laws. Such manifest need not be visaed by consular officers. Any alien who has been admitted to the United States under the provisions of section 3 of the Immigration Act of 1924 shall, upon departure from the United States, be required to deposit the sum of $10 with the Commissioner of Immigration at the port of departure before he will be allowed to depart, unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Commissioner of Immigration at the time of departure that he has complied with the terms of the law entitling him to admission without deposit. Upon compliance with the provisions of section 3 the deposit will be refunded. Failure to make such deposit shall be considered a waiver of the right to depart and the alien shall be subject to deportation in the same manner as if admitted to the United States for permanent residence.

SEC. 37. That aliens arrested and deported from the United States under the provisions of this Act shall be deported only to the country whence they came, or, at their option, to the country of which they are subjects or citizens, or in which they have resided, unless the cost of deportation to any such country shall be greater than to the country whence they came, or unless such country refuses to receive them, or unless deportation to such country is prejudicial to the interests of the United States, in any of which cases the Secretary of Labor shall have the right to determine the country to which the alien shall be deported within the limits prescribed in this section. Any alien who shall enter the United States in violation of any prohibition of this Act shall be deported to the country whence he came, or to the country of which he is a subject or citizen, or in which he has resided, at the option of the Secretary of Labor, as provided in this section, in lieu of being returned to the country from which he entered the United States. Any alien who shall enter the United States in violation of this Act shall be deported to the country whence he came, or to the country of which he is a subject or citizen, or in which he has resided, at the option of the Secretary of Labor, as provided in this section, in lieu of being returned to the country from which he entered the United States. SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, or for such other reasons as the Attorney General may prescribe for the alternate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 50. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof shall be liable to detain on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has granted such alien a permit to land, or has been informed by the immigration officer at the port of arrival that such permit has been granted, and such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master shall be liable to the penalty provided in section 16 of this Act in the case of each such alien seaman not produced on board before the departure of the vessel from such port. Upon the arrival of such vessel at a subsequent port or place in the United States, the master shall report to the immigration officer in charge at such port or place the illness or hospitalization ashore of any alien seaman, and produce a certificate of such illness or hospitalization issued by a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service, or by a duly qualified medical practitioner designated by the immigration officer, in default of which report and production such alien seaman shall be deemed to have deserted, and the master shall be liable to the penalty provided in section 16 of this Act in the case of each alien seaman not produced on board before the departure of the vessel from such port or place. Upon the departure of any vessel from a port or place in the United States, the master shall report to the immigration officer in charge at such port or place the name of each alien seaman who has been hospitalized ashore, and who is not then produced on board, and shall furnish such information as may be required by such immigration officer with respect to such alien seaman. Upon the departure of any vessel from a port or place in the United States, the master shall report to the immigration officer in charge at such port or place the name of each alien seaman who has been hospitalized ashore, and who is not then produced on board, and shall furnish such information as may be required by such immigration officer with respect to such alien seaman. Upon the departure of any vessel from a port or place in the United States, the master shall report to the immigration officer in charge at such port or place the name of each alien seaman who has been hospitalized ashore, and who is not then produced on board, and shall furnish such information as may be required by such immigration officer with respect to such alien seaman.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not depart with the vessel on which he arrived in the United States shall be detained on board or at such place as the immigration officer in charge at the port may designate until the departure of such vessel, unless sooner granted a permit to land temporarily or permanently by such officer, or unless sooner removed by writ of habeas corpus in proceedings before a court, judge, or justice. Every alien seaman who shall depart with the vessel on which he arrived in the United States shall be deported to the country to which such vessel belongs, unless the Secretary of Labor shall direct deportation to some other country in which case he may be entitled to a hearing before a special board of inquiry. Every alien seaman who shall depart with the vessel on which he arrived in the United States shall be deported to the country to which such vessel belongs, unless the Secretary of Labor shall direct deportation to some other country in which case he may be entitled to a hearing before a special board of inquiry. (c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such alien seaman, he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

(d) Every alien seaman who shall not depart upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States shall be deemed a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport after employment by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be liable to the penalty provided in section 16 of this Act, and shall be ineligible for a visa as a nonimmigrant temporary visitor for business or pleasure, or as a bona fide alien seaman, unless in addition to the other evidence required by law he establishes to the satisfaction of the consular officer that he intends to depart from the United States with the vessel on which he arrived or some other vessel, and that he is not a member of a class of aliens known to the consular officer to be coming to the United States solely for the purpose of entering the employment of seamen on vessels arriving at ports of the United States, for the purpose of deserting such employment.

(e) Any alien seaman who shall land temporarily or permanently in the United States in violation of the provisions of this section shall be deported to the country to which such vessel belongs, unless the Secretary of Labor shall direct deportation to some other country in which case he may be entitled to a hearing before a special board of inquiry. Such lists shall be delivered to the immigration officer at the port of arrival and shall be open to the inspection of such officer, and such officer shall have the right to make such changes in and additions to the lists as may be necessary to establish the facts required by this Act or by rules or regulations made in pursuance thereof. Such lists shall be filed and preserved by the immigration officer at the port of arrival for the period of three years, and shall be subject to such reasonable regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the purpose of protecting the records from unauthorized disclosure.

(b) Any person who shall bring to the United States any alien excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and contemplated in paragraph (a) of this section, or who shall bring to the United States any alien afflicted with any of the mental or physical defects or diseases specified in section 2 of this Act, unless such alien has been specifically examined by the Secretary of Labor or by such inspector or other officer of the United States as he may designate for the purpose, and a certificate issued by the Secretary of Labor or by such inspector or other officer that such alien may be admitted to the United States, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each alien so brought, or by imprisonment for a period not exceeding one year, or both, in the discretion of the court: Provided, That no person shall be deemed guilty of bringing to the United States any alien who was a bona fide tenant, servant, employee, or member of the family of such person and who was coming to the United States to become such tenant, servant, employee, or member of the family of such person, unless such person knew or had reason to believe that such alien was afflicted with any of the mental or physical defects or diseases specified in section 2 of this Act, or was excluded by section 3 of this Act, or was likely to become a public charge, or was coming to the United States in violation of this Act, or was likely to become a public charge, or was coming to the United States in violation of this Act, or was likely to become a public charge, or was coming to the United States in violation

No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the liability to payment of such sum, or while the sum remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such sum, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs.

(d) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was prevented by the master of such vessel as a question apart from mere carelessness or negligence, may be made by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master of such vessel before the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival or before the Secretary of Labor.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman or such vessel, he may extend the time for the departure of such seaman for such length of time as he deems necessary, but not to exceed six months from the date of the expiration of the time limit set for the departure of such seaman by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master of such vessel before the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival or before the Secretary of Labor.

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms furnished by the Department, and be ready for delivery to the immigrant inspector boarding the vessel as the last of the immigrants destined to the United States have been passed upon. The list of aliens must be in duplicate, and shall be filled out by typewriter or in ink. ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, injury, or quarantine requirements, or to visit a consul, or because of the necessities of the vessel, or for such other reasons as may be deemed sufficient by the Secretary of Labor, but such seaman shall be deported in the manner provided in the immediately following section to the country from which he came to the United States, unless the Secretary of Labor is satisfied that such seaman (which determination in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), after having been inspected and examined by an immigrant inspector at the port of arrival is found to be clear of any contagious disease or mental or physical defect or disability which would be likely to endanger the welfare of the United States, and issues to such seaman a certificate to that effect, and such seaman is in possession of such certificate when he applies for admission. Any seaman who shall land in violation of this section shall be deported as provided in section 19 of the Act of February 5, 1917, and shall be ineligible to citizenship.

SEC. 35. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to detain on board the vessel any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), or who fails to detain such seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor so to do, or who fails to pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(d) Every alien seaman who shall not depart upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or who shall depart from the United States within five years of such arrival as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a violation of the provisions of section 19 of the Act of February 5, 1917, and shall be deported as provided in such section.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel, he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such expenses shall be a lien against such vessel, collectible as provided in section 4 of the Act of February 5, 1917, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

SEC. 28. [As to aliens seamen excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board of vessels arriving in the United States from any foreign port.]

SEC. 29. [As to aliens seamen excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board of vessels departing from the United States for any foreign port.]

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel having in the United States any person ordered deported under any provision of law, shall be given written notice by the immigration officer in charge at the port of departure of such vessel (which notice may be served upon the master of such vessel) before the departure of such vessel from the United States, and no such vessel shall depart from the United States while such person remains on board without the permission of the immigration officer in charge at the port of departure. Any person who violates any provision of this section shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each such person with respect to whom such violation occurs.

(b) Any such vessel may be granted a permit by the immigration officer in charge at the port of departure to depart from the United States notwithstanding the provisions of this section upon the deposit with such immigration officer of a sum sufficient to cover the cost of the maintenance of each such person specified in such permit while detained hereunder, and sufficient to cover the return expenses of each such person to the country to which he may elect to be returned, or to which he may be required to be returned under the provisions of this Act, such sum to be determined by the immigration officer in charge at the port of departure. Any person with respect to whom such deposit is made may be detained on board the vessel or, at the option of the master of such vessel, may be detained in such place on shore as may be designated by the immigration officer in charge at the port of departure, pending the departure of such vessel from the United States, but the master of such vessel shall be responsible for the payment of the cost of such detention. Any such person may be required by such immigration officer in charge to depart on any vessel which is scheduled to depart from the United States to a country to which such person is willing to go and which will accept such person, other than the vessel on which such person arrived in the United States, unless the master of such vessel shall furnish security satisfactory to such immigration officer in charge that he will not permit such person to land in the United States from his vessel. Any person who shall refuse to depart from the United States when required so to do under the provisions of this Act, or who shall depart or attempt to depart from the United States in violation of any order issued hereunder, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof in any court of the United States shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of any alien ordered deported will be prejudicial to the interests of the United States, he may, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, suspend deportation of such alien for such period or periods as he may deem necessary, and may require any bond or security for the departure of such alien which he may deem necessary, and may cancel such bond or security when satisfied that such alien has departed.

(d) Every alien ordered deported who shall not depart from the United States within six months from the date of such order or from the date of the termination of any such suspension, unless the time be extended by the Secretary of Labor, shall be deported at any time thereafter on the warrant of the Secretary of Labor. Such warrant may direct that the alien be taken to any port or place in which he may be found within three years from the date of such order, and he may be taken to any such port or place, notwithstanding the fact that the time within which he may be deported may have expired before the warrant is issued or executed. Any alien who shall willfully fail or refuse to depart from the United States within a period of six months from the date of such order, or from the date of the termination of any such suspension, shall, pending such departure, be confined to jail or to some other place of detention, and may be kept at hard labor until such departure. Any alien who shall willfully fail or refuse to depart from the United States within a period of six months from the date of such order, or from the date of the termination of any such suspension, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof in any court of the United States shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

(e) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of any alien ordered deported will be prejudicial to the interests of the United States, he may, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, suspend deportation of such alien for such period or periods as he may deem necessary, and may require any bond or security for the departure of such alien which he may deem necessary, and may cancel such bond or security when satisfied that such alien has departed.

(f) Every alien ordered deported who shall not depart from the United States within six months from the date of such order or from the date of the termination of any such suspension, unless the time be extended by the Secretary of Labor, shall be deported at any time thereafter on the warrant of the Secretary of Labor. Such warrant may direct that the alien be taken to any port or place in which he may be found within three years from the date of such order, and he may be taken to any such port or place, notwithstanding the fact that the time within which he may be deported may have expired before the warrant is issued or executed. Any alien who shall willfully fail or refuse to depart from the United States within a period of six months from the date of such order, or from the date of the termination of any such suspension, shall, pending such departure, be confined to jail or to some other place of detention, and may be kept at hard labor until such departure. Any alien who shall willfully fail or refuse to depart from the United States within a period of six months from the date of such order, or from the date of the termination of any such suspension, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof in any court of the United States shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

SEC. 33. [As to detention of vessel by Immigration officers at port of departure pending decision as to right of aliens to land.]

(a) Every alien who may not be admitted to land shall be given a hearing before a special board of inquiry, which shall be appointed by the commissioner of immigration at the port of arrival, and shall have power to determine whether such alien shall be allowed to land or shall be deported. Such board of inquiry shall have power to administer oaths and to take evidence touching the right of any alien to land, and may adjourn from time to time in order to hear and determine the case; but pending such final determination the alien shall be detained in the custody of the immigration officers in charge at the port of arrival, and shall not be admitted to bail. Such alien and the master of the vessel on which he arrived shall be given reasonable notice of the time and place at which such hearing will be had, in order that they may be present. The decision of such board of inquiry shall be final unless reversed on appeal to the Secretary of Labor, but subject to such reversal the decision of such board of inquiry shall be final as to the facts of the case unless manifestly contrary to the evidence and clearly erroneous. Such appeal must be taken within ten days after the decision has been rendered, unless such time be extended by the Secretary of Labor, and shall stay the final action of the immigration officers until a decision is reached thereon. Pending such appeal, the alien shall be detained in the custody of the immigration officers in charge at the port of arrival, and shall not be admitted to bail. The Secretary of Labor may establish boards of special inquiry at such ports of entry as he may deem necessary, and may detail officers of the Department of Labor to act as members of such boards. The Secretary of Labor may order the whole or any part of the testimony before a board of special inquiry to be taken by a stenographer appointed by him, who shall be sworn faithfully to perform his duties. The Secretary of Labor may establish such rules and regulations, not inconsistent with law, as may be necessary for the conduct of proceedings before boards of special inquiry, the taking of appeals, and the detention of aliens pending the decision on appeal. Such boards of special inquiry shall exercise their functions within the United States, its Territories, and the District of Columbia, and may sit at any place designated by the Commissioner General of Immigration.

(b) Every alien who may not be admitted to land shall be given a hearing before a special board of inquiry, which shall be appointed by the commissioner of immigration at the port of arrival, and shall have power to determine whether such alien shall be allowed to land or shall be deported. Such board of inquiry shall have power to administer oaths and to take evidence touching the right of any alien to land, and may adjourn from time to time in order to hear and determine the case; but pending such final determination the alien shall be detained in the custody of the immigration officers in charge at the port of arrival, and shall not be admitted to bail. Such alien and the master of the vessel on which he arrived shall be given reasonable notice of the time and place at which such hearing will be had, in order that they may be present. The decision of such board of inquiry shall be final unless reversed on appeal to the Secretary of Labor, but subject to such reversal the decision of such board of inquiry shall be final as to the facts of the case unless manifestly contrary to the evidence and clearly erroneous. Such appeal must be taken within ten days after the decision has been rendered, unless such time be extended by the Secretary of Labor, and shall stay the final action of the immigration officers until a decision is reached thereon. Pending such appeal, the alien shall be detained in the custody of the immigration officers in charge at the port of arrival, and shall not be admitted to bail. The Secretary of Labor may establish boards of special inquiry at such ports of entry as he may deem necessary, and may detail officers of the Department of Labor to act as members of such boards. The Secretary of Labor may order the whole or any part of the testimony before a board of special inquiry to be taken by a stenographer appointed by him, who shall be sworn faithfully to perform his duties. The Secretary of Labor may establish such rules and regulations, not inconsistent with law, as may be necessary for the conduct of proceedings before boards of special inquiry, the taking of appeals, and the detention of aliens pending the decision on appeal. Such boards of special inquiry shall exercise their functions within the United States, its Territories, and the District of Columbia, and may sit at any place designated by the Commissioner General of Immigration.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of any alien will be prejudicial to the interests of the United States, he may, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, suspend deportation of such alien for such period or periods as he may deem necessary, and may require any bond or security for the departure of such alien which he may deem necessary, and may cancel such bond or security when satisfied that such alien has departed.

(d) Every alien ordered deported who shall not depart from the United States within six months from the date of such order or from the date of the termination of any such suspension, unless the time be extended by the Secretary of Labor, shall be deported at any time thereafter on the warrant of the Secretary of Labor. Such warrant may direct that the alien be taken to any port or place in which he may be found within three years from the date of such order, and he may be taken to any such port or place, notwithstanding the fact that the time within which he may be deported may have expired before the warrant is issued or executed. Any alien who shall willfully fail or refuse to depart from the United States within a period of six months from the date of such order, or from the date of the termination of any such suspension, shall, pending such departure, be confined to jail or to some other place of detention, and may be kept at hard labor until such departure. Any alien who shall willfully fail or refuse to depart from the United States within a period of six months from the date of such order, or from the date of the termination of any such suspension, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof in any court of the United States shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

(e) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of any alien will be prejudicial to the interests of the United States, he may, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, suspend deportation of such alien for such period or periods as he may deem necessary, and may require any bond or security for the departure of such alien which he may deem necessary, and may cancel such bond or security when satisfied that such alien has departed.

(f) Every alien ordered deported who shall not depart from the United States within six months from the date of such order or from the date of the termination of any such suspension, unless the time be extended by the Secretary of Labor, shall be deported at any time thereafter on the warrant of the Secretary of Labor. Such warrant may direct that the alien be taken to any port or place in which he may be found within three years from the date of such order, and he may be taken to any such port or place, notwithstanding the fact that the time within which he may be deported may have expired before the warrant is issued or executed. Any alien who shall willfully fail or refuse to depart from the United States within a period of six months from the date of such order, or from the date of the termination of any such suspension, shall, pending such departure, be confined to jail or to some other place of detention, and may be kept at hard labor until such departure. IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be furnished on blank forms approved by the Department and be read, by a master to each alien, immediately before the vessel leaves the last port in a foreign country at which such alien boards the vessel. The master, or person in charge, shall enter on the list opposite the name of each alien the number of the certificate issued to such alien under the provisions of section 2 of the act of February 5, 1917, as amended, and the date and place of issuance of such certificate. If any alien is not in possession of a certificate, the master shall enter opposite the name of such alien the reason why such certificate is not in his possession. The master shall also enter on the list the name of the vessel on which each alien named therein intends to depart from the United States, the port at which such vessel will take on board such alien, and the destination of such alien. Immediately after the vessel leaves the last port in a foreign country, the master shall deliver the list to the officer of the customs at the port of departure, or, if there is no such officer at such port, to the officer of the customs at the first port of arrival in the United States. The master shall also deliver to such officer of the customs a true copy of the list, certified by him under the penalties of perjury to be such a copy. Any master who refuses or neglects to perform any of the duties imposed upon him by this section shall be liable to a penalty of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct data are not furnished or a true copy of the list certified as required by this section.

SEC. 15.—(a) Any alien seeking admission to the United States may be required by the immigrant inspector at the port of entry to establish that he is not excludable from admission under the provisions of this Act or any other law or treaty now in force or hereafter entered into by the United States regulating the admission of aliens. Any alien who shall refuse or fail to establish such fact shall be taken before a special inquiry officer for further inquiry to be conducted under such rules as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe.

(b) The special inquiry officer shall conduct proceedings solely for the purpose of determining whether such alien is excludable from the United States under this Act or any other law or treaty now in force or hereafter entered into by the United States regulating the admission of aliens. The special inquiry officer shall have authority to administer oaths and to take evidence touching the privilege of any alien or other person to enter, reenter, pass through, or reside in the United States, or concerning any matter which is material and relevant to the enforcement of this Act and the admission of aliens. The testimony of all witnesses in any such proceedings conducted before a special inquiry officer shall be under oath and shall be recorded. Decisions of special inquiry officers shall be based only upon evidence adduced at a hearing held upon notice to the alien or his representative, except that official records and documents may be considered in the case of any alien without such notice to the alien or his representative.

(c) The Secretary of Labor shall prescribe rules governing the conduct of proceedings before special inquiry officers, the admission of counsel on behalf of aliens in such proceedings, and the recording of decisions rendered in such proceedings. Such rules shall provide that notice be given to interested parties and reasonable time be allowed to obtain counsel and witnesses, that the alien and his counsel may inspect the record of proceedings and may present evidence in his own behalf, that the decision be based only upon evidence introduced at the hearing, and that a complete record of the proceedings and of all evidence introduced be kept.

(d) The Secretary of Labor may appoint, in accordance with the civil-service laws and regulations, special inquiry officers, and such clerks and assistants as may be necessary to perform the duties imposed upon special inquiry officers by this Act.

SEC. 16. (a) Any alien who shall be found in the United States in violation of this Act or any other law or treaty now in force or hereafter entered into by the United States regulating the admission of aliens shall be taken into custody and deported, in accordance with the provisions of this section, except as otherwise provided in section 19 of this Act.

(b) The decision of the special inquiry officer shall be based upon a hearing held as provided in section 15 of this Act. Such decision shall be final unless reversed on appeal to the Secretary of Labor in accordance with such rules as he may prescribe. Appeals may be taken from the decision of the special inquiry officer to the Secretary of Labor by any alien who is excluded from admission to the United States by such officer. Such appeals must be taken within two days after the decision complained of is rendered, unless such time is extended by the special inquiry officer or the Secretary of Labor, upon a showing by the alien that additional time is necessary for the preparation of his appeal. Pending a final decision, no alien whose case is so appealed shall be landed in the United States, but he may be detained in the custody of the immigrant inspector in charge, or released in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor, and shall be deported in accordance with the provisions of this Act if the final decision is adverse to him. Such final decision shall be rendered within one month from the date of the completion of the hearing, except in cases certified by the Secretary of Labor to the Secretary of Commerce for his personal consideration.

(c) Any alien who shall be taken into custody for deportation shall be given a reasonable opportunity to communicate with relatives, friends, and counsel, and to obtain bail in such amount as may be fixed by the special inquiry officer, pending the final decision in his case. Pending such final decision and the actual deportation of such alien, the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, permit such alien to remain in the United States upon such terms and conditions as he may prescribe.

(d) The Secretary of Labor shall arrange for the maintenance of all aliens detained in his custody pending the final determination of their cases, and may provide suitable detention facilities therefor. He is authorized to contract with the authorities of any State or municipality for the use of any suitable detention facilities under the control of such authorities, and to pay for the care, maintenance, and transportation of such aliens while detained pursuant to such contracts.

(e) Any alien who shall be ordered deported shall be entitled to a reasonable opportunity to settle his business affairs and depart voluntarily from the United States, and may be granted such period of time as may be necessary for the purpose, not exceeding six months. Any such alien who shall be ordered deported shall, in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor, be allowed to withdraw, at his own expense, any funds or property in the custody of any officer of the United States or of any State or municipality, or in the custody of any court, except as otherwise provided by law.

(f) Any alien who shall be ordered deported and who shall thereafter enter or attempt to enter the United States shall be deported upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor issued prior to such reentry, without further hearing or examination, unless such alien shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he did not depart from the United States voluntarily after the issuance of such warrant of deportation, or that he was not legally subject to deportation.

(g) Any alien who shall be deported shall be deported only to the country of which he is a subject, citizen, or denizen, according to the laws thereof, or to the country from which he came to the United States, at the option of the Secretary of Labor, except that if such alien shall have become a subject, citizen, or denizen of another country, he shall be deported to such country, unless the country to which he would otherwise be deported refuses to receive him, in which case the Secretary of Labor may deport him to any country which he may designate which will receive him.

(h) Any alien who shall be deported shall not be permitted to enter the United States without the consent of the Secretary of Labor, and may be required, before such consent is granted, to give a bond, in such sum as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, with sufficient sureties, conditioned that such alien will not return to the United States without such consent.

(i) Any alien who shall be deported shall be deported only after a warrant shall have been issued by the Secretary of Labor. Such warrant shall be issued only upon the recommendation of a special inquiry officer, or upon the decision of the Secretary of Labor on appeal, that the alien is subject to deportation. Such warrant shall be executed by any immigrant inspector or other officer whose duty it is to execute warrants of deportation. Such warrant shall be executed within a reasonable time after it is issued. Any such warrant may be executed by the officer issuing it or by any other officer designated for the purpose by the Secretary of Labor.

(j) Any alien who shall be deported shall be deported at the cost of the appropriation for the administration of this Act current when the warrant is issued, except that if there is no such appropriation current when the warrant is issued, then at the cost of the appropriation current when the alien entered the United States, or when he was apprehended.

(k) Any alien who shall be deported shall be deported with his personal effects not in excess of 1,000 pounds, or the value thereof, in addition to such sum as may be required by law to be paid in connection with his deportation. Any amount found to be due such alien shall be paid to him upon his departure.

(l) Any alien who shall be deported shall be deported by the most direct route from the place of arrest to the port of departure from the United States for the country to which he is deported, unless he shall request deportation by a different route, or unless the Secretary of Labor shall for reasons deemed by him sufficient direct deportation by a different route.

(m) Any alien who shall be deported shall be deported on a vessel or aircraft of the class in which he arrived, unless the Secretary of Labor shall direct deportation on a vessel or aircraft of another class.

(n) Any alien who shall be deported shall be deported only to the foreign port at which he embarked for the United States, or to the port nearest thereto at which a vessel touches on the regular course from the United States to the country to which he is deported, unless the Secretary of Labor shall direct deportation to a different port.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The law described below shall be read by masters of vessels before the vessel leaves port on the first voyage after each arrival at a port in the United States.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That alien seamen employed on any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place in the West Indies, Mexico, Central America, Canada, Newfoundland, or Miquelon, arriving at a port of the United States, shall, before such seamen shall be admitted to entry, be examined at the port of arrival, under the direction of the Commissioner of Immigration, or his assistant, by the immigrant inspectors, as to whether they belong to any of the classes excluded from admission to the United States by section 3 of this Act. Such examination shall be made before any such seamen are admitted to shore leave, and, so far as practicable, before the vessel docks, and shall be completed within such period after the vessel docks as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe. Such seamen shall be detained on board the vessel or other vessel or place designated by the immigrant inspectors until examined, and shall not be permitted to land except temporarily under such regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor. Any such seaman who is certified by the examining immigrant inspector or the Commissioner of Immigration, or his assistant, to be afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities for the time being excluded by section 3 of this Act shall be detained on board or other vessel or place designated by the immigrant inspector or the Commissioner of Immigration, or his assistant, until a certificate is issued by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service that such seaman is not afflicted with such disease or mental or physical defect or disability, or until such seaman is otherwise certified in accordance with law. Such certificate shall be issued only upon the certification of two medical officers of the United States Public Health Service after separate examination. Such seamen shall be subject to such medical care and treatment during detention as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor. Any such seaman who becomes a public charge within three years after entry may be deported upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor, and the cost of his maintenance while detained and of his deportation shall be recovered from the owners of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States. Any such seaman who shall have been certified by the medical officers of the United States Public Health Service as afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities for the time being excluded by section 3 of this Act, and who shall refuse to be detained on board or other vessel or place designated by the immigrant inspector or the Commissioner of Immigration, or his assistant, or who shall refuse to be certified by the medical officers of the United States Public Health Service as to the existence of such disease or mental or physical defect or disability, shall be deported as provided in section 19 of this Act. SEC. 38. That when written application is made to the United States Commissioner of Immigration at the port of arrival by any person claiming that he is a citizen of the United States and is desirous of returning thereto, but is unable to procure a passport from the government of the country to which he owes allegiance or from the United States consular officer in the country from which he last departed, by reason of the fact that he has not resided in the United States sufficiently long to entitle him to become a citizen thereof, or for any other reason, and such fact is made to appear to the satisfaction of the Commissioner of Immigration, he may, in his discretion, subject to such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, cause a certificate to be issued to such person, which shall entitle him, his wife, and minor children to return to the United States through such ports as may be designated in the certificate, within a period of four months from the date of the certificate and not thereafter, without being subject to the payment of any tax, head money, or visa fee, or to the passport control provisions of the immigration laws, rules, and regulations, except such as may be specifically applicable to such persons. Such certificate shall be prima facie evidence of the right of the person named therein to return to the United States, and shall be accepted by the transportation lines as sufficient authority for the issuance of a ticket and for the master of any vessel to accept such person for transportation to the United States in lieu of a passport. Such certificate shall be valid for a period of four months from the date of its issuance, unless prior to the expiration of such period the Secretary of Labor shall cancel the same, which he is hereby authorized to do upon the receipt of information showing that the person to whom it was issued is not returning to the United States within such period. Such certificate shall be void when used by any person other than the one for whom issued, and any person who shall use or attempt to use any such certificate in violation of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than two years, or by both such fine and imprisonment, and shall forfeit to the United States the sum of $1,000. The Secretary of Labor is hereby authorized to make such rules and regulations as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this section.

SEC. 150.5. Lists of alien crewmen: when departure of vessel denied. (Departure shall not be granted any vessel upon the ground that any member of the crew has deserted or intends to desert unless the master has reported the desertion to an immigrant inspector and furnished him with such information in connection therewith as he may require. Such report shall be made at once if the vessel is about to depart, but in any case before the vessel has left the dock or pier at which it was moored when the desertion was discovered. Failure to report desertion as required by this section shall be ground for refusal of clearance or permit to depart to the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel. 8 U. S. EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924, AS AMENDED

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 10. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws now enforced or hereafter enacted who shall have been employed on board any vessel arriving at a port of the United States from any place outside thereof (other than seamen employed on board a vessel touching only at ports in contiguous territory adjacent to the United States unless such vessel shall touch at a port of the United States from which such vessel shall depart for a foreign port or place), shall be permitted to land temporarily under such regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, but for the purpose only of obtaining subsistence, medical treatment, or hospitalization, or for such other purposes as the Attorney General may prescribe, and shall be deported in the same manner as provided in the case of other aliens ordered deported. Any such alien who shall land in the United States for any purpose or for any length of time other than as permitted by this section shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 of this Act. (8 U.S.C. 166)

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States from any place outside thereof (other than seamen employed on board a vessel touching only at ports in contiguous territory adjacent to the United States unless such vessel shall touch at a port of the United States from which such vessel shall depart for a foreign port or place) any alien who has been refused admission to the United States shall remove such alien to the country from which he came or to the country which issued the passport on which he came, or to any country which will receive him, within such period of time as may be specified by the Commissioner of Immigration, or, if no such period of time is specified, immediately. Pending such removal, such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, master, or vessel shall be responsible for the detention of such alien on board such vessel or at such place as shall be designated by the Commissioner of Immigration. Such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, master, or vessel shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien detained under this section, to be recovered by the collector of customs of the district in which the port of arrival is located, or of the district to which such alien is destined, and the payment of such penalty may be enforced by withholding clearance from any vessel owned, chartered, operated, or consigned by any person who shall fail to pay such penalty. Clearance may be granted any such vessel upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to pay such penalty, pending the decision of the Secretary of Labor as to whether such penalty is incurred. Upon the payment of such penalty, or the deposit of such sum, or upon the cancellation of such penalty, the master of such vessel shall be given a certificate to that effect, which shall be delivered to the collector of customs before clearance is granted such vessel. Such penalty shall not be remitted or refunded except upon certification by the Secretary of Labor that the alien in respect of whom the penalty was incurred was not a member of the crew of the vessel and was not afforded facilities for reaching the United States other than those provided for the return of seamen. Clearance may be granted any vessel upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to pay such penalty, pending the decision of the Secretary of Labor as to whether such penalty is incurred. Upon the payment of such penalty, or the deposit of such sum, or upon the cancellation of such penalty, the master of such vessel shall be given a certificate to that effect, which shall be delivered to the collector of customs before clearance is granted such vessel. Such penalty shall not be remitted or refunded except upon certification by the Secretary of Labor that the alien in respect of whom the penalty was incurred was not a member of the crew of the vessel and was not afforded facilities for reaching the United States other than those provided for the return of seamen.

(b) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of an alien assigned to the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such expense shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of an alien assigned to the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such expense shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

(d) Every alien seaman who shall not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or shall remain in the United States for a longer period than fifteen days after the departure of the vessel on which he arrived, shall be deemed to have landed in the United States, and if he shall thereafter be found in the United States he shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 of this Act, unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Commissioner of Immigration that he did not land in the United States, or that he was forced to land by illness or injury or other cause beyond his control, or that he has become a citizen of the United States, or that he has been lawfully admitted to the United States for permanent residence, or that he has been granted permission to depart voluntarily from the United States and has departed therefrom within the period specified, or that his deportation would be unlawful. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States for any purpose or for any length of time other than as permitted by this section shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 of this Act. (8 U.S.C. 166)

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily to secure treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the allowance of such landing (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States shall pay a tax of $8 for each alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner) or who fails to obtain such seaman on board after such inspection or to obtain such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such tax, or while the same remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such tax, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not depart from the United States in the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or shall not be sent to the country to which he belongs or in which he resided at the time of shipping on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from the time he lands ashore thereof, or shall be sent from the United States under the provisions of the immigration laws, unless the Secretary of Labor shall otherwise direct, shall be deported in the manner provided by the immigration laws to the country to which he belongs or in which he resided at the time of shipping on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall find that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman by such vessel touching at the port to be designated by the Secretary of Labor, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from any port within the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or adjacent islands, or between ports in the United States, shall be permitted to land in the United States except for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States shall be responsible for the payment of the hospital, medical treatment, and burial expenses of any alien seaman (except Canadian or Mexican) employed on board such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has furnished such seaman (except in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or has failed to obtain on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of departure has furnished such seaman a certificate of discharge, or has failed to obtain the final receipt of such alien seaman for hospital, medical treatment, and burial expenses, or has failed to deposit with the Secretary of Labor, to be refunded to the owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of such vessel, the sum of $10 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall desert while the vessel on which he arrived is in a port of the United States shall be taken into custody and detained on board the vessel or within the jurisdiction of the port, city, or town in which the vessel may be, until the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel on which he arrived shall have given a bond with sufficient surety, in such sum not exceeding $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, as the Secretary of Labor may require, conditioned to indemnify and save harmless the United States Government and all officers thereof from any and all claims, costs, attorneys' fees, and expenses that may be incurred by or awarded against the United States Government or any such officer in consequence of the desertion of such alien seaman, and conditioned also for the return of such alien seaman to the country to which the vessel on which he arrived belongs, or to the country in which he shall have shipped, at the option of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel, or for the payment of the cost of such return transportation by such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer, unless such alien seaman shall be lawfully entitled to remain in the United States, or shall have been granted a visa as an immigrant admissible under the immigration laws and shall have obtained a certificate from the Secretary of Labor to that effect, which shall be made on the manifest.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel is not available, or that the cost of such deportation will be unreasonably great, he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such alien seaman shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of the necessities of the vessel, until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has granted such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner). SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or unless specially certified by the Secretary of Labor in order to land in case of shipwreck, or for the actual purpose of and while employed in replacing members of the crew, or for such other purpose as may be specified in the certification, and upon the departure of the vessel upon which he arrived, or upon the departure of such vessel from any place in the United States, or upon the departure of any vessel within five years after the date of his entry into the United States, whichever shall first occur, he shall be deported in the manner provided in section 19 hereof, and shall be so certified by the master of such vessel to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival. Such lists or manifests shall be prepared at such time before the vessel's departure from foreign ports as may be prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration, approved by the Secretary of Labor, and shall be delivered by the master to the immigrant inspector boarding the vessel at the port of entry, or the first inspector boarding the vessel at any port where there is more than one inspector, and before any such vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs or other officer authorized by law to grant clearance papers to such vessel. The lists or manifests required by this section to be delivered by the master of a vessel shall be signed by him in the presence of the immigrant inspector boarding the vessel at the port of entry, or the first inspector boarding the vessel at any port where there is more than one inspector, and he shall certify thereon that the information contained therein is true to the best of his knowledge and belief. Such lists or manifests shall be prepared in such form and detail as may be prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration, approved by the Secretary of Labor, and may provide for different lists or manifests for different classes of aliens. Any master who refuses or fails to deliver any list or manifest required by this section, or who refuses or fails to prepare the same for inspection, or refuses or fails to present such list or manifest or the aliens listed thereon for inspection or examination, or who refuses or fails to answer truthfully and completely to the best of his knowledge and belief any question propounded to him by any immigrant inspector concerning any alien on board his vessel, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of entry is located a sum not exceeding $1,000 for each alien concerning whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the amount of such fine upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Every alien arriving at a seaport in the United States to which, at the time of his arrival, he is destined, or to which he subsequently proceeds, shall be examined by an immigrant inspector, unless he has previously been examined at a place outside the United States. The physical and mental examination of aliens shall be conducted by or under the supervision of the United States Public Health Service. The medical officer in charge at the port of arrival may, if he deems it necessary, order any alien seeking admission to the United States to be detained for a further physical and mental examination, and for such period of time as may be necessary for such examination. Every alien who is certified by the United States Public Health Service to be suffering from a contagious disease that would make his admission to the United States inimical to the public health, or to be insane, shall be detained until he is certified by the United States Public Health Service to be free from such disease or insanity, and such certification shall be conclusive unless reversed on review or appeal authorized by section 25 of this Act. Any alien who becomes a public charge within two years after his entry into the United States from causes existing prior to his entry shall be deported as provided by law. Any alien who at the time of entry is a stowaway shall be deported as provided in section 19 of this Act. Any alien who shall have been excluded from admission to the United States, or who shall have been deported, and who shall thereafter enter or attempt to enter the United States, may be arrested without warrant and shall be excluded and deported unless such alien shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he was not required to obtain a visa and a passport, or a special permit of admission, or that he was in possession of such documents and was entitled to enter the United States without inspection and examination at the time of his last entry. Any alien who shall willfully make misrepresentation for the purpose of gaining admission to the United States shall be excluded and deported. Except as otherwise provided in this Act, the decision of the boards of special inquiry shall be final unless reversed on appeal to the Commissioner General of Immigration upon the application of the alien or his agent within such period of time as may be prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration with the approval of the Secretary of Labor. The Commissioner General of Immigration may, in his discretion, order the admission or detention of any alien applying for admission during the pendency of such appeal. A record of the action of the boards of special inquiry and all documents and papers relating thereto shall be kept in the custody of the Commissioner General of Immigration, who shall cause a permanent record to be made in his office of all such actions and proceedings. Any alien who has been excluded from admission and deported and who shall thereafter enter the United States, or attempt to enter the United States, except under order of the Board of Special Inquiry or the Commissioner General of Immigration or unless he shall have received a special permit for such entry from the Secretary of Labor previous to his application for admission, shall be deported as provided in section 19 of this Act. Any alien who shall enter the United States in violation of this section or any regulation made in pursuance thereof, or who shall aid or assist any alien to enter the United States in violation of this section or any regulation made in pursuance thereof, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or both, for each alien in relation to whom any violation of this section occurs.

SEC. 19. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or internment to such destination as the Attorney General may prescribe for the deportation of such alien, or pending such deportation, or pending the departure of the vessel on which he arrived. And such seaman shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or the payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

(d) Every alien seaman who shall not depart upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was prevented by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to depart with such vessel, unless explained to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

(e) It shall be unlawful for any master, commander, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, to knowingly bring to any territory to be granted or denied admission to the United States any alien seaman who is not in possession of a valid passport and an immigrant visa, if such be required by this Act, or by regulations made pursuant thereto, or who is not in possession of a permit to enter the United States in lieu of a passport and immigrant visa, if such be required by this Act, or by regulations made pursuant thereto, or who is not in possession of a valid seaman's identity certificate issued pursuant to section 13 of this Act

Masters of vessels who have obtained such certificates in behalf of seamen who have complied with the requirements of this section shall be entitled to demand and receive from each of such seamen the sum of $5 and may deduct the amount so paid from the wages of such seamen. (a) Every alien who is admitted into the United States without having been lawfully examined by the proper immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, or who has been admitted upon a certificate issued by the Secretary of Labor, shall be deported as provided by the immigration laws, unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he came to the United States through stress of weather or other unavoidable cause, which shall be specified in his certificate, or that he was lawfully entitled to enter the United States without such examination, or that such examination was waived as provided by law.

(b) Every alien so admitted shall not be entitled to admission to the United States if he is found by the Secretary of Labor to be afflicted with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, which shall be specified in his certificate, or if it be shown to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he became a public charge for reasons existing prior to his landing and affecting his admissibility which were not specified in such certificate, or if he be found to be a person who at the time of his entry is excludable under the provisions of section 3 of this Act, or who has been convicted of a felony or other crime or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, or who is a polygamist, or who believes in or advocates the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States or of all forms of law, or who disbelieves in or is opposed to organized government, or who advocates the assassination of public officials, or who is the author of or circulator of printed matter containing such advocation, or who is a member of or affiliated with any organization entertaining such beliefs or advocating such assassinations, or who advocates or teaches the unlawful destruction of property, or who is an anarchist, or who is a person who is coming to perform labor under contract, express or implied, made previous to the importation, except as otherwise provided for by law, or who has been deported under any of the provisions of this Act, and who may again seek admission within one year from the date of such deportation, unless prior to his application for admission the Secretary of Labor shall have consented to his reapplying for admission.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall think that deportation of any alien ought to be prevented for the reason that such alien may be a witness on the trial of any person charged with a violation of any provision of this Act, or of any other criminal case pending in the United States, he may, in his discretion, permit such alien to enter the United States subject to such conditions as he may prescribe, for such length of time as he may deem necessary for the purpose, upon the deposit of such sum of money as he may require, not exceeding $1,000, to guarantee the departure of such alien from the United States within the time prescribed. At the end of such time or upon the departure of such witness, if sooner, the money deposited as security shall be returned to the depositor. Failure to comply with the conditions of the deposit shall be taken and considered as a breach of the bond hereinafter provided for.

(d) Every alien who shall come to the United States in violation of any of the provisions of this Act shall be taken into custody and deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of this Act, notwithstanding such alien may have become a naturalized citizen of the United States.

Sec. 23. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States from any foreign port any alien subject to a head tax as provided in section 1 of this Act shall pay to the collector of customs at the port of arrival the sum of $8 for each such alien, and in addition thereto such sum as may be necessary to pay the cost of the return of such alien in any case in which he is excluded and deported at the time of his first arrival or entry, or in any case in which he is excluded and deported at the time of his first arrival or entry and subsequently returns to the United States, unless such alien is a citizen of the United States or has a right to admission without application to the Secretary of Labor. Any such owner, agent, consignee, or master who refuses or fails to pay such head tax or such cost of return of any such alien shall be liable to a penalty of $300 for each such alien, and no vessel will be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question of liability and the payment of any penalty finally imposed. The payment of such head tax or such cost of return shall not be required in the case of any alien who is in possession of a valid unexpired immigration visa, or who is a bona fide resident of Canada, Newfoundland, Mexico, Cuba, Porto Rico, the Canal Zone, Hawaii, or the Philippine Islands, and who is coming to the United States solely as a nonimmigrant visitor, or who is in transit through the United States, or who shall have been in the United States for a period or periods aggregating one year or more and who is returning from a temporary visit abroad, or who is under sixteen years of age and coming to the United States to attend school, or who is an officer or employee of the United States Government or of the government of any insular possession of the United States coming to the United States under official orders of his government, or who has been lawfully admitted to the United States and who is returning from a visit to Canada, Newfoundland, Mexico, Cuba, Porto Rico, the Canal Zone, Hawaii, or the Philippine Islands, but the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, may prescribe such rules and regulations as may be necessary to carry into effect the provisions of this section.

(b) The head tax and the cost of return of any alien may be recovered in the first instance from any person who brings such alien to the United States, or who has the custody, control, or charge of such alien at the time of the payment of such head tax or such cost of return.

Sec. 24. (a) The head tax and the cost of return of any alien provided for in this Act shall constitute a lien upon the vessel bringing such alien to the United States, and clearance shall not be granted such vessel while such lien remains undischarged.

(b) Every alien who shall come to the United States in violation of any of the provisions of this Act shall be taken into custody and deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of this Act, notwithstanding such alien may have become a naturalized citizen of the United States.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

Sec. 38. That upon written application of any person in charge of the hospital or other institution where the alien is detained, the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, permit any alien who has been certified by the Public Health Service to be afflicted with a curable disease, other than one of those mentioned in section 3 of this Act, to be treated in such hospital or institution, subject to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, without being subject to the head tax provided for in section 1 of this Act, and may also permit any alien who has been certified by the Public Health Service to be afflicted with a disease other than one of those mentioned in section 3 of this Act to be admitted to the United States

Note.—Failure to furnish this list or delay in delivering it subjects the master to a fine of not more than $1,000. (8 U.S.C. 221.)

See Part 4, Form to Alien Crewman

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on plain white writing paper in the typewriter and be neat, i.e. without erasures or interlineations, and shall be signed by the master. The list shall be prepared in duplicate, and the original and duplicate shall be delivered to the Immigrant Inspector at the port of arrival of the vessel at the first port in the United States. The list shall contain the name of every alien who is on board the vessel when it departs from the last port at which it touches before coming to the United States, whether such alien is a cabin passenger or is in the steerage or is a member of the crew, and the failure to include the name of any such alien in the list may result in the imposition of the penalty provided by law against the master of the vessel. Before the vessel departs from the last port at which it touches before coming to the United States, the master shall write across the face of the list the words "None", if no aliens are on board the vessel, or the number of aliens listed, if any are on board. The list shall be signed by the master on the last page thereof. If the vessel departs from any port in the United States with aliens on board who were not included in the list delivered to the Immigrant Inspector at the first port of arrival in the United States, the master will be liable to the penalty provided by law against masters who knowingly bring aliens to the United States who are not included in the lists required to be delivered to the Immigrant Inspector at the port of arrival. Any additional aliens who may be taken on board the vessel at any port in the United States must be listed on a supplemental list or lists, which must be delivered to the Immigrant Inspector at the port at which the vessel next touches in the United States. Each list must be numbered consecutively, beginning with the number next following the number of the last alien listed on the preceding list. The master will be required to deliver a list or lists to the Immigrant Inspector at the port of departure from the United States containing the names of all aliens who have been on board the vessel since it arrived at the first port in the United States, and if no aliens have been on board during that time the master must state that fact in writing on the last list delivered to the Immigrant Inspector.

Each list must be made out in the exact order in which the aliens named therein were registered on the ship's manifest, and the number on the manifest of the last alien registered must be stated on the last list delivered to the Immigrant Inspector.

The following information must be given as to each alien named in the list:

Name in full, age, sex, whether married or single, calling or occupation, whether able to read or write, nationality, last permanent residence, race or people, final destination, whether in possession of money and how much, whether in possession of railroad ticket and to what point, whether ticket is limited or through, whether going to join relatives or friends and, if so, their names and complete addresses, whether ever before in the United States and, if so, when and where, whether ever in prison or almshouse or supported by charity and, if so, which, whether a polygamist, whether an anarchist, whether coming by reason of any offer, solicitation, promise, or agreement, express or implied, to perform labor in the United States, the condition of health, mental and physical, of such alien, whether deformed or crippled and, if so, how long and from what cause, and height and complexion of such alien.

(a) If the Secretary of Labor shall deem that the services of any alien whose name is on the list delivered to the Immigrant Inspector at the first port of arrival in the United States are essential to the successful operation of the vessel upon which he arrived, and that such alien can be replaced only with great difficulty, he may grant to the master a permit in writing for such alien to land temporarily in the United States, subject to such conditions as he may prescribe, for the purpose of enabling the master to secure the services of such alien's successor. Such permit may be granted for a period not exceeding twenty-nine days, and may be revoked by the Secretary of Labor at any time, in his discretion, after notice to the master.

(b) Any alien employed on board any vessel arriving at a port in the United States who is ordered by the master to depart on such vessel and refuses to depart with the vessel, or who departs with the vessel and secretes himself thereon with intent to remain in the United States unlawfully, shall be deported at the expense of the vessel upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor, and the master shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien he employed on board the vessel who secreted himself thereon with intent to remain in the United States unlawfully, unless he shall prove that he did not employ such alien with knowledge or reason to believe that he intended to remain unlawfully in the United States.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall deem that the services of any alien employed on board any vessel arriving at a port in the United States are essential to the successful operation of the vessel upon which he arrived, and that such alien can be replaced only with great difficulty, he may grant to the master a permit in writing for such alien to land temporarily in the United States, subject to such conditions as he may prescribe, for the purpose of enabling the master to secure the services of such alien's successor. Such permit may be granted for a period not exceeding twenty-nine days, and may be revoked by the Secretary of Labor at any time, in his discretion, after notice to the master.

(d) Any alien employed on board any vessel arriving at a port in the United States who is ordered by the master to depart on such vessel and refuses to depart with the vessel, or who departs with the vessel and secretes himself thereon with intent to remain in the United States unlawfully, shall be deported at the expense of the vessel upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor, and the master shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien he employed on board the vessel who secreted himself thereon with intent to remain in the United States unlawfully, unless he shall prove that he did not employ such alien with knowledge or reason to believe that he intended to remain unlawfully in the United States.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The law described below will be enforced on and after October 1, 1917, and it is necessary that all masters of vessels arriving at or departing from ports of the United States should be familiar with its provisions.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That alien seamen of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master of such vessel to cause each such alien seaman to be conveyed on board such vessel before the departure of such vessel from the port where such alien seaman may be at the time of the departure of such vessel, and it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master of such vessel to report to the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of departure the name of each alien seaman who fails to depart with such vessel, and to state in such report the cause of such failure, if known, and the last known address of such alien seaman. Any person who violates any provision of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense, and shall also be liable to the United States for the penalty of $100 paid to each such alien seaman who is not lawfully entitled to remain in the United States and who shall be deported at the expense of the United States, as provided in section 20 of this Act, and for the penalty of $100 paid to the United States for each such alien seaman who is not deported, which penalty shall be a lien upon the vessel on which he arrived, which may be enforced by libel in any district court of the United States into which such vessel may enter or in which it may be found.

SEC. 37. That the owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof with any alien seaman on board who is required by section 36 of this Act to be detained on board the vessel shall not allow any such alien seaman to depart from the United States on any other vessel or in any other manner, except upon the certificate in writing of a United States immigrant inspector that the cause for detention of such alien seaman has ceased or been removed, or upon the certificate in writing of the Secretary of Labor that such alien seaman is not required as a witness on behalf of the United States in connection with the prosecution of any person charged with a violation of this Act, or upon the certificate in writing of the commissioner of immigration at the port of arrival that such alien seaman has been granted the right to land temporarily in the United States, or has been admitted to the United States, or upon the certificate in writing of the Secretary of Labor that such alien seaman is not required as a witness in connection with the prosecution of any person charged with violating the provisions of this Act relating to the importation, harboring, or concealment of aliens. Any vessel which shall depart from any port of the United States in violation of this section shall be liable to the United States for the penalty of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such violation occurs. The vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs upon the deposit with him of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs.

(a) Every alien seaman who does not obtain a visa before the expiration of ninety days after the date of the arrival of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or from adjacent islands, or who shall depart from the United States during such period of ninety days without the permission of the Secretary of Labor, shall be deported as provided in this Act, and at the discretion of the Secretary of Labor may be refused a visa for such period of time as he may deem necessary.

(b) Every alien seaman who does not obtain a visa before the expiration of ninety days after the date of the arrival of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or from adjacent islands, or who shall depart from the United States during such period of ninety days without the permission of the Secretary of Labor, shall be deported as provided in this Act, and at the discretion of the Secretary of Labor may be refused a visa for such period of time as he may deem necessary.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deterioration of the alien seamen on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seamen, the time limit may be extended by the Secretary of Labor for such period as he may deem necessary, not to exceed a total of ninety days, upon the filing of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment of the tax to obtain or defray alien seamen's hospital dues by the commissioner of immigrants at the port of arrival.

(d) Every alien seaman who does not obtain a visa before the expiration of ninety days after the date of the arrival of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or from adjacent islands, or who shall depart from the United States during such period of ninety days without the permission of the Secretary of Labor, shall be deported as provided in this Act, and at the discretion of the Secretary of Labor may be refused a visa for such period of time as he may deem necessary, not to exceed a total of ninety days, upon the filing of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment of the tax to obtain or defray alien seamen's hospital dues by the commissioner of immigrants at the port of arrival.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deterioration of the alien seamen on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seamen, the time limit may be extended by the Secretary of Labor for such period as he may deem necessary, not to exceed a total of ninety days, upon the filing of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment of the tax to obtain or defray alien seamen's hospital dues by the commissioner of immigrants at the port of arrival.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR PREPARING ALIEN MANIFEST

Separate manifests should be prepared for each port at which passengers embark for the United States, according to separate manifests immigrants and nonimmigrants are defined by the immigration act of 1924; and also according to separate manifests those which transport in the third class and the so-called tourist class. Whose crews book the outside of vegetarian vegetarians, and those whose views do not pearl such inhibit. The names of all immigrants of a family shall appear also the same manifest sheet when they travel in the same class; and if they travel in different classes, appropriate spaces of a family shall appear also the same manifest sheet when they travel in the same class; and if they travel in different classes, appropriate

Cross references should be made on the sheets on which the respective names are listed.

Column 1 (Manifest sheet).—Separate lines should mark no entries in this column. The space is for use of Government officials only.

Column 2 (No.).—The owners in this column should be expressed in terms of months. The space is for use of Government officials only.

Column 3 (Age).—The entry should be either M (male) or F. (female).

Column 4 (Married or single).—The proper should be M. (married), S (single), W. (widowed), or D. (divorced).

Column 5 (Calling or occupation).—The entry should describe as accurately as possible the occupation, trade, or profession of each alien arrived, as for example: Coal engineer, shipwright, engineer, locomotive engineer, mining engineer, piano hosiery, needle worker, dressmaker, housewife, etc., and not simply as "engineer," "mechanic," "laborer," or other indefinite designations.

A definition should be made between farmers and farm laborers, nevertheless of the amount of money already in Europe.

A farmer is one who operates a farm, either for himself or for others.

A farm laborer is one who works on a farm for the farm who operates it.

Seamanship combines should make this distinction on the manifests, and corrections should be made, if necessary, by inspectors during the personal examination of those applying for admission.

Column 6 (Nationality).—Each person is admitted and contains the following directions: "Name, write language for, to examination is changed, when name changed." If person is unable to read the United States, the alien is able to read, write, and speak the language or dialect he may prefer, and the record shall be entered accordingly. If alien is unable to read and write, the words "cannot read" shall be entered in this column.

Column 7 (Race or people).—Special attention should be paid to the distinction between race and the country of which citizen or subject. Citizens of just Peninsular Europeans and country of origin and nationality should be correctly entered by inspectors in this column. For instance, "French," "German," "Irish," "English," "Scotch," "Welsh," "Italian," "Spanish," "Portuguese," "Dutch," "Flemish," "Swedish," "Norwegian," "Danish," "Russian," "Finnish," "Hebrew," "Polish," "Bohemian," and "Slovak," etc., should be entered in this column. For instance, citizens of Europe, Asia, Africa, Central and South America, and the West Indies may all be born in the same country, but belong to entirely different races. Thus, natives of all countries in Europe may belong to the so-called Caucasian race, natives of Asia to the Mongolian race, natives of Africa to the Negro race, natives of Central and South America and the West Indies to the Indian, Negro, or mixed races, and natives of Australia to the Malay race. The purpose of this column is to show the racial stock from which the immigrant has come, and not merely the country from which he has recently arrived. For example, a Negro born in Cuba is a member of the Negro race, not of the Cuban race; a Chinese born in Canada is a member of the Mongolian race, not of the Canadian race; a Hebrew born in Germany is a member of the Hebrew race, not of the German race; Wherever a question is asked, the answer must be written in the list, even though it be "none" or "not applicable" (N. A.). Any additional columns which it may be found necessary to add to the list must be put to the right of column 28 and not between existing columns. Manifests which are illegible or which do not show all the required information will not be accepted. In order to facilitate inspection, passengers must be assembled on deck, but shall be delivered by the master on the gangway. The list of persons on board must be produced at any time upon demand by any immigrant inspector, and the master must report and deliver the list to the immigrant inspector at the first port of arrival in the United States. Any master or commanding officer who knowingly and willfully refuses to allow any immigrant inspector to enter the vessel for the purpose of boarding and inspecting the same, or who refuses to facilitate such inspection in any way, shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each such offense.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 10. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port (except such transports as may be specially chartered by the United States for the transportation of troops) shall be permitted to land in the United States except temporarily and solely for the purpose of obtaining medical treatment, or because of illness, until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has been satisfied that the sanitary conditions on board the vessel are such as to warrant the belief that no contagious disease is present among the crew, and that the vessel is in all respects clean and sanitary. Such seaman may be required to be detained on board or at such place as may be designated by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival pending the decision as to the sufficiency of the sanitary conditions on board. Any seaman who lands in violation of this section shall be deported in the manner provided by section 19 of this Act. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who knowingly violates any of the provisions of this section shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each such offense.

(a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel shall furnish to each seaman employed on board a certificate of identity containing such description of the seaman as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, and such other information relative to the seaman as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe. Such certificate shall be visaed by a consular officer of the United States without charge before the seaman is permitted to go on board the vessel. The Secretary of Labor may prescribe rules governing the issuance of certificates of identity, the information to be contained therein, the form thereof, and the time and place of the examination of applicants therefor, and the application for and issuance of such visas. No vessel shall be granted clearance from any port of entry in the United States while any seaman employed thereon who is required to be listed under section 10 of this Act is missing from the vessel at the time of departure, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel makes oath that the absence of the seaman was not with his consent, procurement, or connivance, and that he has complied with the requirements of this section with respect to such seaman. If the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel shall refuse or fail to comply with the requirements of this section with respect to any seaman employed thereon who is required to be listed under section 10 of this Act, he shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of entry is located the sum of $10 for each seaman with respect to whom such refusal or failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance until the payment thereof, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, to the satisfaction of the collector of customs. Any vessel which shall depart or attempt to depart from a port of entry in the United States in violation of this section shall be liable to a penalty of $2,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. Clearance may be granted without the production of the certificate required by this section upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Every alien seaman (except members of the crew entering in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner) shall be examined by the immigration officer in charge at the time and place of entry in the United States from any foreign port, or while the vessel remains in port, at the discretion of the immigration officer, and no such seaman shall be admitted unless found to be not affected with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities for the time being specified in section 2 of this Act. Every alien seaman shall be detained on board or at such place as may be designated by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival pending the decision as to whether he is subject to detention or deportation under this Act. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who knowingly violates any of the provisions of this section shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance from any port of entry in the United States while any alien seaman required by this section to be detained on board remains on board after notice that the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has determined that such seaman is not to be admitted to the United States, except that clearance may be granted without the production of the certificate required by this section upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs.

(c) If the Attorney General shall be satisfied that any alien seaman has been unlawfully detained on board any vessel at the expense of the owner, agent, consignee, or master of such vessel, such vessel shall be liable to a penalty of $300 for each such detention, recoverable as provided by section 19 of this Act. The Attorney General is authorized to remit such penalty in whole or in part if he shall be satisfied that the detention was without fault on the part of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel, and that every proper effort was made to prevent it.

(d) Every alien seaman who shall be refused a landing shall be immediately deported in pursuance of the provisions of section 19 of this Act, and pending such deportation shall be detained on board or at such place as may be designated by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival. Such alien seaman shall not be entitled to be admitted to the United States for any purpose, and no bond given to secure the payment of any fine or penalty imposed upon the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived shall be remitted or cancelled, nor shall any such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer be relieved from any such fine or penalty because of the refusal of any country to accept such alien seaman, or because of any delay occurring in his deportation, but such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer shall pay the cost of maintenance of such alien seaman while he remains under the control of the immigration officials of the United States, and the cost of his deportation, which shall be fixed in advance of his departure by the immigration officials, and collected as provided by section 19 of this Act. Any such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer who shall fail or refuse to detain any alien seaman on board his vessel, or who shall land any such alien seaman, except temporarily because of illness, or who shall refuse to pay the cost of maintenance of such alien seaman while he remains under the control of the immigration officials of the United States, and the cost of his deportation, shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance from any port of entry in the United States while any alien seaman required by this section to be detained on board remains on board after notice that the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has determined that such seaman is not to be admitted to the United States, except that clearance may be granted without the production of the certificate required by this section upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs.

(e) If the Attorney General shall be satisfied that any alien seaman has been unlawfully detained on board any vessel at the expense of the owner, agent, consignee, or master of such vessel, such vessel shall be liable to a penalty of $300 for each such detention, recoverable as provided by section 19 of this Act. The Attorney General is authorized to remit such penalty in whole or in part if he shall be satisfied that the detention was without fault on the part of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel, and that every proper effort was made to prevent it. No vessel shall be granted clearance until such extra pay has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master of such vessel, within the hours of entry prescribed by the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival, to deliver to such officer lists or manifests of all persons on board such vessel, whether destined to the United States or not, which lists or manifests shall be prepared in such manner as may be prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, and shall contain such additional information relative to each such person as the Commissioner General of Immigration may prescribe, and which may be obtained without unreasonable delay and hindrance to the prompt landing of passengers entitled to speedy transportation and entry. Such lists or manifests shall be delivered by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel to the immigration officer at the port of arrival before any of the passengers are landed, and shall be corrected, if found inaccurately to state any fact required to be stated therein, before the commencement of the inspection of the persons listed thereon. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel who refuses or neglects to deliver such lists or manifests, or who refuses or neglects to correct the same, or who refuses to subscribe the same when required so to do, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom any omission or incorrect statement occurs. No vessel shall be cleared from the port of arrival by the collector of customs until the payment of such sum has been duly certified to him by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and the production of the certificate of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel that the same has been paid or that no such sum is due. The Attorney General shall prescribe rules governing the remission of such fines, and no fine shall be remitted except upon the certificate of the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival that the remission is recommended and the reasons therefor, and upon the certificate of the Commissioner General of Immigration that the remission is recommended and the reasons therefor. Such certificates shall be filed with the papers in the case. Any such fine may be recovered in the name of the United States in any court of competent jurisdiction from the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel. The payment of such fine shall not be a condition precedent to the granting of clearance papers to such vessel, but no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment thereof, or pending an application for remission or mitigation of such fine, or pending an appeal from the decision imposing or refusing remission or mitigation of such fine, when such application or appeal is made within ten days after such decision is rendered, nor shall clearance be granted in any case while judicial proceedings are pending which involve the question of the liability of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel to the payment of such fine, or while any person who has been arrested in such proceedings is in custody. The Secretary of Labor may, upon the recommendation of the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Attorney General, remit any fine, penalty, or forfeiture, or any part thereof, incurred or accruing under the provisions of this section, and may prescribe the terms upon which remission may be granted.

SEC. 150.15 Fines of alien contrymen: when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the fines imposed by section 36 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 890; 8 U. S. C. 1170) have been collected or bond given for the payment thereof in accordance with section 36 of said Act (39 Stat. 890; 8 U. S. C. 1050). Inquiries in the administrative fine proceedings may be addressed to the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, Washington, D.C., Attention: Fines and Penalties Section. Remission of such fines may be granted only upon the certificate of the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization that the remission is recommended and the reasons therefor, and upon the certificate of the Commissioner General of Immigration that the remission is recommended and the reasons therefor. Such certificates shall be filed with the papers in the case. Any such fine may be recovered in the name of the United States in any court of competent jurisdiction from the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel. The payment of such fine shall not be a condition precedent to the granting of clearance papers to such vessel, but no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment thereof, or pending an application for remission or mitigation of such fine, or pending an appeal from the decision imposing or refusing remission or mitigation of such fine, when such application or appeal is made within ten days after such decision is rendered, nor shall clearance be granted in any case while judicial proceedings are pending which involve the question of the liability of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel to the payment of such fine, or while any person who has been arrested in such proceedings is in custody. ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 19. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board an American vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily and for medical treatment, or temporarily on account of illness, or for such other reasons as the Attorney General may prescribe, for a period not to exceed the time such vessel remains in port, unless security satisfactory to the Attorney General is given that such alien will depart on board the vessel on which he arrived or some other vessel. The master of such vessel shall report the departure of such alien from the United States and shall deliver to the immigration officer in charge at the port of departure a certificate of identification of such alien from the vessel. The list of crewmen required by section 12 of the immigration act of 1917 shall be prepared in such manner as may be prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, and shall contain such additional information relative to each such seaman as the Commissioner General of Immigration may prescribe, and which may be obtained without unreasonable delay and hindrance to the prompt landing of passengers entitled to speedy transportation and entry. Such list or manifest shall be delivered by the master to the immigration officer at the port of arrival before any of the crew are landed, and shall be corrected, if found inaccurate, to state any fact required to be stated therein, before the commencement of the inspection of the persons listed thereon. Any master who refuses or neglects to deliver such list or manifest, or who refuses to correct the same, or who refuses to subscribe the same when required so to do, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom any omission or incorrect statement occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers from any port in the United States to any foreign port or place while any sum for which the master is liable under the provisions of this section remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the question of liability upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such fine or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers while any seaman who has been granted a temporary permit to land remains on board after the departure of such vessel as a passenger. Any person who knowingly violates any provision of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

(b) Any alien seaman who shall desert while his vessel is in port shall be deported at the expense of the appropriation for the expenses of the Immigration Service, unless the Secretary of Labor shall be satisfied that he is unable to defray the expense of his deportation and that he has not sufficient funds in the United States to defray the expense of his deportation, and that he has not become a public charge, and that he is not likely to become a public charge, and that his deportation is not necessary or desirable in order to effectuate the provisions of the immigration laws.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman owing to the length of time required for the usual processes of law before a final order of deportation can be made, he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

(d) Any alien seaman who shall have been granted a temporary permit to land during the period his vessel is in port shall not be required to obtain a passport visé in order to secure a new permit upon the expiration of the first permit.

(e) Nothing in this section shall be construed to repeal, amend, or modify the provisions of section 3 of the Act of February 5, 1917, relating to the admission of alien seamen employed on vessels touching at ports of the United States for the purpose of taking on board passengers destined to foreign ports.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause him to be detained on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

(d) Any alien seaman who shall have been granted a temporary permit to land during the period his vessel is in port shall not be required to obtain a passport visé in order to secure a new permit upon the expiration of the first permit.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The Act directing immigration officers to furnish masters with lists of aliens to be inspected was approved March 3, 1903. Its purpose is to prevent the landing of aliens who are not entitled to admission under the law. The Department must rely upon masters to carry out the provisions of the law. Masters are subject to a penalty of $100 for each violation of the law. Immigration officers are stationed at the principal ports of the United States, but it is impossible to have them at all ports. Masters are therefore required to report at the office of the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival before allowing any of the passengers to land. Masters will be required to detain any alien who may be found on board the vessel, and to prevent any such alien from landing, unless and until a permit to land shall have been granted by the immigration officer in charge at the port, or by his assistants. Masters will also be required to detain any alien on board the vessel who may be certified by the examining surgeon to be afflicted with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, unless and until a permit to land such alien shall have been granted by the Secretary of Commerce and Labor or by an immigration officer in charge at the port. Masters will be required to detain any alien on board the vessel who may be certified by the examining surgeon to be afflicted with a mental or physical defect of such a character as to render it likely that the alien will become a public charge, unless and until a permit to land such alien shall have been granted by the Secretary of Commerce and Labor or by an immigration officer in charge at the port. Masters will be required to detain any alien on board the vessel who may be certified by the examining surgeon to be afflicted with a contagious disease which will endanger the health of the people of the United States, unless and until a permit to land such alien shall have been granted by the Secretary of Commerce and Labor or by an immigration officer in charge at the port. Masters will be required to detain any alien on board the vessel who may be certified by the examining surgeon to be afflicted with a mental or physical defect of such a character as to render it likely that the alien will become a public charge, unless and until a permit to land such alien shall have been granted by the Secretary of Commerce and Labor or by an immigration officer in charge at the port. Masters will be required to detain any alien on board the vessel who may be certified by the examining surgeon to be afflicted with a contagious disease which will endanger the health of the people of the United States, unless and until a permit to land such alien shall have been granted by the Secretary of Commerce and Labor or by an immigration officer in charge at the port.

SEC. 38. That every master, or other person in charge of any vessel, foreign or domestic, bringing to the United States from any foreign port or place any alien who is prohibited from entering the United States by this Act, or by any other law now in force, shall be liable to the penalty prescribed in section thirty-four of this Act, and may also be imprisoned for a term not exceeding one year. The vessel shall be liable for the payment of such penalty, and no clearance shall be granted to any such vessel while such penalty remains unpaid, nor shall any such vessel be allowed to enter any other port of the United States: Provided, That clearance may be granted to any such vessel after the payment of a penalty not exceeding the sum of $200, or the deposit of a bond with sufficient surety conditioned for the payment of such penalty as may be imposed by the Secretary of Commerce and Labor, not exceeding the sum of $200, and such vessel may be allowed to enter any port of the United States for the purpose of discharging her cargo, or any part thereof, under such regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Commerce and Labor. Nothing in this Act shall be construed to require the detention of any vessel engaged in the transportation of mails, or to prevent the discharge of cargo at any port of entry, or the removal of the crew or any portion thereof to any hospital for treatment, or to any other place on shore for proper cause, or the substitution of other persons for the crew or any portion thereof, or the transportation of any such crew or portion thereof overland through the United States in transit to any foreign country, or the temporary detention of any such alien at a port of entry pending the arrival of a vessel in which he is entitled to be carried to the country whence he came, or the return of any such alien to the vessel on which he arrived, or the removal of any such alien to a hospital, asylum, or other place of detention, or his delivery to a relative or friend, or his discharge on bail not exceeding $300, under such regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Commerce and Labor.

SEC. 150.2. Duty of master, owner, agent, charterer, or consignee. (a) Generally. Any person, including any master, owner, agent, charterer, or consignee of any vessel, who brings to the United States from any foreign port or place any alien who is prohibited from entering the United States by the immigration laws, or by any other law now in force, shall be liable to the penalty prescribed in section 34 of the Act of February 5, 1917, and may also be imprisoned for a term not exceeding one year. The vessel shall be liable for the payment of such penalty, and no clearance shall be granted to any such vessel while such penalty remains unpaid, nor shall any such vessel be allowed to enter any other port of the United States for the purpose of discharging her cargo, or any part thereof, under such regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Commerce and Labor. Nothing in this section shall be construed to require the detention of any vessel engaged in the transportation of mails, or to prevent the discharge of cargo at any port of entry, or the removal of the crew or any portion thereof to any hospital for treatment, or to any other place on shore for proper cause, or the substitution of other persons for the crew or any portion thereof, or the transportation of any such crew or portion thereof overland through the United States in transit to any foreign country, or the temporary detention of any such alien at a port of entry pending the arrival of a vessel in which he is entitled to be carried to the country whence he came, or the return of any such alien to the vessel on which he arrived, or the removal of any such alien to a hospital, asylum, or other place of detention, or his delivery to a relative or friend, or his discharge on bail not exceeding $300, under such regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Commerce and Labor.

SEC. 10. Any such alien may be taken before a United States commissioner having jurisdiction in the port or place where he is found, and if he is found to be unlawfully in the United States he shall be returned to the country whence he came, in the manner provided by section 20 of this Act, except that if he is a native of the United States he shall be returned to the United States. The cost of his maintenance while being so detained and returned shall be borne by the person who brought him to the United States. IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The last document listed, as required on board vessels arriving by the Department and to which reference is made in the oath, is the crew list. It is important that the crew list be correctly prepared and that it be produced when required. Any person who knowingly makes a false statement in the crew list or in any document presented in connection therewith may be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than two years, or by both such fine and imprisonment (22 Stat. 189; 8 U. S. C. 144).

Any master who refuses to produce the crew list when required by the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival may be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment (22 Stat. 189; 8 U. S. C. 144).

Any master who knowingly or willfully delivers to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival a crew list which does not correctly list and account for all persons employed as members of the crew or otherwise on board the vessel when she arrived at that port, or who willfully alters the crew list after the vessel has cleared from the last port in the United States, may be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment (22 Stat. 189; 8 U. S. C. 144).

Any master who refuses to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival any crew list in his possession or control relating to the crew of the vessel, or who willfully alters, cancels, or destroys any crew list before the same has been delivered as required by law, may be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment (22 Stat. 189; 8 U. S. C. 144).

Attention is called to section 16 of the immigration act of February 5, 1917, which provides that the master of any vessel bringing an alien who is excluded by the provisions of the act, or by any other law, from admission into the United States, shall, if required by the Secretary of Labor, return such alien to the country from which he came, or to the country of which he is a subject or citizen, or to the country in which he resided before coming to the country from which he arrives, and the cost of the maintenance of any alien detained while awaiting the action of the master in pursuance of this section shall be borne by the master. Section 17 of the act provides that the master of any vessel bringing to the United States any alien who is afflicted with any loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, or who is found to be a person who has been deported under any of the provisions of the act, shall be required to remove such alien from the United States upon the direction of the Secretary of Labor to the country from which such alien came, or to the country of which he is a subject or citizen, or to the country in which he resided before coming to the country from which he arrives, and the cost of the maintenance of any alien detained while awaiting the action of the master in pursuance of this section shall be borne by the master. Section 18 of the act provides that the master of any vessel bringing to the United States any alien who is afflicted with any loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, or who is found to be a person who has been deported under any of the provisions of the act, shall be required to remove such alien from the United States upon the direction of the Secretary of Labor to the country from which such alien came, or to the country of which he is a subject or citizen, or to the country in which he resided before coming to the country from which he arrives, and the cost of the maintenance of any alien detained while awaiting the action of the master in pursuance of this section shall be borne by the master.

Such lists shall be prepared at such time after the vessel shall have sailed from the last foreign port touched as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, and shall be delivered to the immigrant inspector at the time of the vessel's arrival at the port of first arrival in the United States. The master of each vessel shall also deliver to the immigrant inspector at the time of the vessel's arrival at the port of first arrival in the United States a list or manifest of all aliens who have been taken on board at any foreign port or place, but who are not destined to the United States, such list or manifest to contain such information as may be required by the Secretary of Labor. The immigrant inspector at the port of first arrival in the United States shall report to the Secretary of Labor the name of any master who has refused or failed to deliver such list or manifest, or who has refused to answer questions touching the same, or who has been convicted of violating the provisions of this section, and the Secretary of Labor may thereupon withhold clearance papers from any vessel commanded by such master for such time as he may deem proper.

Any such master, owner, agent, consignee, or person who shall refuse to pay any such charge may be arrested upon warrant issued upon complaint made by any immigrant inspector and taken before any United States commissioner, judge, or court within the district in which the port of arrival is located, and may be required to furnish bail in such sum, not exceeding $500, as may be fixed by the commissioner, judge, or court for his appearance before the commissioner, judge, or court for a hearing upon the complaint, and for such further time as may be required, not exceeding five days, unless the hearing is postponed by consent. The payment of any penalty or judgment under this section shall not relieve the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person who shall have paid the same from the payment of the head tax and other charges which may be imposed or required by law in respect of the alien in connection with whose entry the same was paid.

(b) The Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, may prescribe for the refund of head taxes erroneously collected from aliens who are not subject thereto, and may prescribe for the refund of head taxes collected from aliens who are subject thereto but who depart from the United States within four months after the date of their entry, and may prescribe the conditions under which refunds may be made.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place in April to the duly of the owner, agent, master, or person in charge thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States except temporarily and solely for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the deportation of any such alien from the United States, or pursuant to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe to control the movements of such aliens while in the United States. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported in the manner provided in sections 19 and 20 of this Act (39 Stat. 889; 8 U. S. C. 156).

SEC. 19. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States (other than persons in immediate and continuous transit through the United States without the opportunity to land) shall before the departure of such vessel from the United States, cause to be delivered to each alien seaman employed on board such vessel a certificate in such form as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, stating the name of such alien seaman, the date of his arrival in the United States, the vessel on board which he arrived, and such other information relative to such alien seaman as may be required by the Secretary of Labor. Such certificate shall be prima facie evidence in favor of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel in any proceeding before the Secretary of Labor or in the courts of the United States relative to the deportation of such alien seaman.

(b) The master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States (other than persons in immediate and continuous transit through the United States without the opportunity to land) who shall fail to deliver to any alien seaman employed on board such vessel a certificate in such form as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, or who shall refuse to permit any such alien seaman to depart from the United States on board such vessel when such alien seaman shall present himself for such departure, or who shall cause or attempt to cause any such alien seaman to land in the United States in violation of this section, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of any fine or penalty or the giving of a bond or other security as required by this section, and such vessel may be detained by reason thereof in the discretion of the Secretary of the Treasury.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship, he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or the payment thereof guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

(d) Every alien seaman who shall not appear upon the customs manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was refused by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver to such alien seaman the certificate provided for in this section, and of a violation of this section by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel.

(e) Every alien seaman who shall desert while in the United States shall be deported in the manner provided in sections 19 and 20 of this Act (39 Stat. 889; 8 U. S. C. 156).

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was refused by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver to such alien seaman the certificate provided for in section 19 (a) of this Act, and shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such penalty or the giving of a bond or other security as required by this section, and such vessel may be detained by reason thereof in the discretion of the Secretary of the Treasury.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not appear upon the customs manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was refused by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver to such alien seaman the certificate provided for in section 19 (a) of this Act, and shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine or penalty, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the liability to the payment of such fine or penalty or the giving of a bond or other security as required by this section, in the discretion of the Secretary of the Treasury, in the amount of such fine or penalty or such part thereof as may be unpaid, with sufficient sureties, or in such amount as may be fixed by the Secretary of the Treasury, and such vessel may be detained by reason thereof in the discretion of the Secretary of the Treasury until the fine or penalty has been paid or the payment thereof guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of the Treasury.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship, he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or the payment thereof guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

(d) Every alien seaman who shall not appear upon the customs manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was refused by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver to such alien seaman the certificate provided for in section 19 (a) of this Act, and shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine or penalty or the giving of a bond or other security as required by this section, in the discretion of the Secretary of the Treasury, in the amount of such fine or penalty or such part thereof as may be unpaid, with sufficient sureties, or in such amount as may be fixed by the Secretary of the Treasury, and such vessel may be detained by reason thereof in the discretion of the Secretary of the Treasury until the fine or penalty has been paid or the payment thereof guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of the Treasury.

The list or duplicate of same shall be delivered by the master to the immigration officer at the port of arrival before any passenger is allowed to leave the vessel. Such bond may be sued upon and recovered in the name of the United States for the use of any person who shall be injured by reason of the breach of the condition thereof, or for the use of the State or political subdivision thereof within which such person resides, in the event such injury shall be to the person or property of the State or political subdivision thereof. EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That every alien arriving at any seaport in the United States from any foreign port or place in the whole or the part of the Canal Zone, or the Philippine Islands, or the island of Guam, or the Virgin Islands of the United States, or the island of Porto Rico, shall be examined by the immigrant inspectors at the port of entry, and every alien arriving at any land port of entry in the United States from foreign contiguous territory shall be examined by the immigrant inspectors at the place where he shall first present himself for inspection, unless the Secretary of Labor shall establish such rules and regulations as he may deem expedient from time to time providing for the examination of aliens in transit through the United States, preceding their departure from a foreign country, or their arrival in the United States, at other than regular ports of entry, or providing for the examination of aliens coming to the United States from foreign contiguous territory, at other than regular ports of entry, or providing for the examination of aliens in the interior of the United States, at such places as he may designate. The Secretary of Labor may refer to a Board of Special Inquiry any case in which the alien is not clearly and beyond doubt entitled to land. Said Board of Special Inquiry shall be composed of three immigrant inspectors, any two of whom shall have authority to act, and shall have authority to administer oaths and to take evidence touching the right of any alien to enter the United States, and shall perform such other duties as the Secretary of Labor may require. The decision of such Board of Special Inquiry shall be final unless reversed on appeal to the Secretary of Labor. It shall be the duty of the inspection officers to detain for special inquiry at the discretion of the Board of Special Inquiry all aliens who do not appear clearly and beyond doubt entitled to land, and all aliens who have been certified to the Board of Special Inquiry for its consideration. Such aliens shall be detained until a decision is reached in their cases by the Board of Special Inquiry or by the Secretary of Labor on appeal. Pending the decision of the Board of Special Inquiry in any case in which a bond or deposit has been required, the Secretary of Labor may extend the time of such detention for a period not exceeding one month. Such decision shall be rendered within the period of detention. Every alien who shall not land after examination by the immigrant inspectors or after the decision of the Board of Special Inquiry or the Secretary of Labor on appeal shall be deported in accordance with the provisions of the law applicable to the deportation of aliens who have been admitted to the United States. The cost of maintenance while under observation or detention, and of deportation of aliens who are excluded at ports of entry, shall be borne by the transportation company which brought the alien to the port. Such cost of maintenance and deportation of aliens who become public charges from causes existing prior to landing, and who are deported within one year thereafter, shall be paid from the appropriation for the enforcement of this act. Any alien who shall come to the United States or who shall remain therein in violation of this act shall be deported in the manner provided by law. Any alien who shall be deported shall be entitled to a hearing before a special inquiry officer, and to appeal from his decision in the manner provided for the cases of aliens arriving at ports of entry. The Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, waive the right to a hearing before a special inquiry officer in the case of any alien who admits the facts upon which a warrant of deportation is based and who waives such hearing. When an alien is ordered deported he shall be given notice thereof, and shall be required to depart from the United States within such time as may be specified by the Secretary of Labor, and in the order of deportation the country to which the alien is deported may be designated by the alien. When an alien ordered deported fails to depart within the time specified, or within such further time as may be allowed by the Secretary of Labor, he shall be arrested and deported and may be confined pending the making of arrangements for his departure. Any alien who shall willfully fail or refuse to depart from the United States within a period of six months after the date of the final order of deportation, or who shall, within five years after such deportation, enter, attempt to enter, or be found within the United States, shall be incapable of becoming a citizen of the United States and shall be deported in the manner provided by law for the deportation of aliens who have entered the United States illegally. Any alien who shall willfully remain within the United States in violation of the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court

No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate deportation, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who lands or delivers on board any vessel any alien (other than an alien crewman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), or who lands or delivers on board such vessel after such inspection or to depart such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Attorney General to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Front fine on alien seaman did not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver or deport alien seaman by the immigration officer at the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.
